Examination requested: Document

Remarks: Request received 4/12/71

Request examination of submitted specimens to determine whether changes have occurred in characteristic markings and to determine whether particular Xerox Model 660 copier could be identified if located u

Remarks:

Changes have not occurred in the characteristic markings questioned copies of Xerox Model 660 copier previously submitted this case. u

Reasonable continued reproduction will not change the characteristic markings of the particular Xerox Model 660 copier. Cleaning, replacement or additional damage to the drum of the copier could alter the identifying characteristics. u

If the Xerox Model 660 copier is located in the approximate same condition as when the questioned copies were made, identification of the copier may be possible. u

The above confirms and supplements Bureau teletype to Philadelphia 4/12/71. u

No Laboratory report is attached. u

Item #3

A torn sheet of blue paper measuring approximately 8 1/2" X 7". The torn edge of the sheet reads "Compiled from Wilfred Burchett article, Guardian, 1/3/70". The opposite edge contains the following in a reverse position "send for New free brochure". This item also appears to be the reproduction of original typed notes. U

The above items were all furnished on 3/26/71 by a reliable confidential source. U

In reference to Item #1, all typing was done by the source on an IBM electric typewriter. Two available typing elements were used and samples can be distinguished by the apparent difference in style of type. Samples were obtained by the source from a typewriter in the office of Women Strike for Peace (WSP), 20 South 12th Street, Philadelphia, Pa. U

Items 2 and 3 were retrieved by the source as discarded material from the office of WSP. U

Our interest in the address, 20 South 12th Street, Philadelphia, Pa., was furnished to the Bureau in referenced Philadelphia airtel 3/18/71. U

REQUEST OF BUREAU:

The Laboratory is requested to compare typing samples on Item 1 (both sides), Item 2, and Item 3 with typing samples on Q-1 and Q-2 to determine if same typewriter was used. U

The Laboratory is also requested to conduct the same examination of Items 1, 2, and 3 with Q-15, Q-33, Q-48 and any other pertinent questioned documents previously submitted in this case. U

Reference memorandum Cotter to Brennan 3/23/71 advising that Domestic Intelligence Division was undertaking detailed review of documents furnished to Representative Parren J. Mitchell (D-Md.). This memorandum sets out results of this analysis. Five of the documents have been previously identified by Philadelphia Office and assessed. The remaining 12 are assessed on the attached pages which are numbered 140-161 for inclusion in our running brief on damage assessment (see my memoranda 3/15 and 3/23/71).

Eleven of the documents received by Mitchell relate to work in this area--seven were not previously known to have been stolen. One of these is Bureau airtel to all offices instructing and justifying need for an increase of quality intelligence information regarding black student groups on college campuses (see pages 142-144 of attached exhibit). We were on firm ground in issuing these instructions although irresponsible press disclosure of the contents of this document taken out of context could create an impression of widespread investigations. Another document contains results of monitoring financial records of a black extremist group and sets out the names of two cooperative bank officials. Mitchell was also furnished a Philadelphia Office memorandum summarizing several conversations intercepted by telephone surveillance on Black Panther Party Philadelphia headquarters. This coverage was discontinued 2/10/71.

Four of items received by Mitchell relate to work in this field. One is Philadelphia memorandum which lists symbol numbers of 20 security informants with names of Special Agent who contact them. Based on lack of more specific information, it is unlikely that identities of these informants could be surfaced. Another item is an informal note to Agents in Philadelphia.

NEWS REPORT ALLEGING BERRIGAN CASE
DATA AMONG DOCUMENTS STOLEN FROM FBI AT MEDIA, PENNSYLVANIA

NEEDBURG

Press reports yesterday quoted an article appearing in the "Philadelphia Daily News" on March 30, 1971, which alleged that a "significant part of the Government's case against the Harrisburg Six was among documents taken from the FBI's Media office on March 8." The article went on to claim that the "crux" of the Federal case against Reverend Philip Berrigan was "now in the hands of Berrigan's associates, according to Federal investigators."

This newspaper further reported that the FBI Office at Media had been conducting investigation in the Berrigan matter and for that reason had possession of duplicate files concerning the case. It was claimed that "Government probers" believed "the thieves had the Berrigan documents in mind when they broke into the private two-story office building in Media by jimmying a door."

I thought you would like to know that this story has no foundation in fact whatsoever. Our Philadelphia Office has advised that a scrupulous check indicated that there were no documents dealing with the Berrigan case stolen from our Resident Agency at Media. Moreover, this Resident Agency at no time had any investigative responsibilities in the Berrigan matter, and no documents relating to this case were stored at our office in Media.

Men Of The People

Our representative form of government in this here United States of America blesses the City of Berkeley with no less than three elections every two years.

Historically, every time one of these elections rolled around, the Berkeley left would hurl great globs of rhetoric back and forth, justifying or condemning those who would participate. Mostly though, the decision to participate was made by people in direct proportion to the perceived possibility of winning the election at hand.

The current Mayor, Wallace Johnson, was elected to his first term eight years ago, in 1963. It was a close vote. Johnson championed the conservative forces who opposed fair housing.

The next year, 1964, large numbers of students worked to defeat proposition 13, which would have repealed the Rumford Fair Housing Act. The proposition passed, state-wide, but was overturned in the courts.

That year, the Free Speech Movement was set off by student activity around the national elections. A university ban on political tables ignited the series of sit-ins and actions which was the beginning of the "student movement."

Most students went along with SDS, going "part of the way with LBJ."

The first serious attempt of the student left in Berkeley to use the electoral process as a vehicle for social change was the campaign of Robert Scheer for congress in the 1966 primary election. Scheer entered the Democratic Party primary challenging Jeffrey Cohelan, a "liberal" who was going down the line to support his boss Lyndon Johnson's war policy.

Scheer, then an editor of Ramparts Magazine (now of Berkeley's Red Family), was on the steering committee of the Vietnam Day Committee, which in 1965 had organized several large — and at the time politically explosive — actions against the war in Vietnam.

Scheer wanted to take this anti-war support and represent it in Congress. Although his campaign drew off the energy of the VDC, it was not a VDC-initiated action, but was presented as a fait accompli. It split that organization and ended it as a political force.

The campaign was attacked by the left wing of the VDC and by SDS as destructive, for fostering the illusion that change was possible through bourgeois elections. Others, mainly self-styled "Trotskyite" socialists, while supporting electoral action in general, attacked Scheer for running as a Democrat, and for registering new members into LBJ's war party.

Scheer answered by saying his campaign wasn't an effort to win, but, through the new types of campaign activity he was using, would educate people against the war and build the anti-war movement. He said he was using the Democratic Party to take it over and destroy it.

Still, the campaign's visible surface showed little difference from traditional electoral campaigns, except for the slogans of the candidate. Billboards were put up, there were signs on buses, and a well-oiled campaign committee set up offices, meetings, and speaking engagements for their man.

It was clear as the election drew near that Scheer WAS hoping to win and was putting on the pressure. His campaign manager, a young man named Jerry Rubin quit over personal disagreements, and other VDC supporters also dropped out.

The pigs got worried. Lyndon Johnson was watching Berkeley as a key area. Robert Kennedy, in the last week, saturated the air waves with broadcasts supporting his "good friend, Jeffrey Cohelan."

When the returns were in, Scheer didn't win, but got a surprisingly strong 45% of the vote.

With the end of the Scheer campaign, there were no more large anti-war efforts until October 1967, Stop the Draft Week, and politics withdrew to campus and student issues.

The gubernatorial election in November 1968 passed Berkeley by, the left refusing even to consider Governor Edmund G. Brown a lesser evil than grade "B" actor ("Bedtime for Bozo") Ronald Reagan, because it was Brown who personally decided to bust the 800 students Kaldenbach for city auditor. Also, a man named Horowitz, and J. B. Neillands, a UC professor, ran on the ticket for city council.

The CNP didn't run anyone for Mayor. Jerry Rubin, who'd considered running an independent campaign council, stepped into the gap. He hoped, if he couldn't gain CNP's backing, at least he'd be able to pool efforts with their precinct workers. To some extent, he succeeded in this.

Rubin at first tried to run a symbolic, "educational" campaign, demanding immediate withdrawal from Vietnam, legalization of pot, city aid to hitchhikers, etc. He thought it would set himself off against the staid CNP to champion what he perceived to be the causes of the new hippy movement — even though the hipp people were too young, transient, or anti-political to get involved.

The campaign went to his head though. As it wore on, many of his early supporters quit in disgust. The more Rubin thought he had a chance of winning, the more he autocratically adopted conventional campaign methods, at the end dressing in a suit and tie, and pressuring his precinct workers to do likewise. He had a chance, he felt, because there was no liberal running between him and the anti-fair-housing Johnson.

He lost big, getting only 21% of the vote. The Trotskyites (who ran the same slate every election to save printing costs) got 5%, a Bircher got a little less, and Wallace Johnson was overwhelmingly re-elected.

The CNP candidates also lost, although gaining better percentages of the vote.

Ron Dellums, backed by most of the Berkeley black community, won the only left victory, getting a seat on the city council.

nored by the white youth. Blacks elected Warren Widener, the Black Caucus candidate, and the Berkeley Coalition narrowly failed to put Loni Hancock in office. A month later, during People's Park, even the radicals who hated all forms of electoral politics thought it would be nice to have some backing in the city government.

In 1970 a largely black-oriented campaign helped Dellums finally oust Cohelan. A student campaign aided liberal Ken Meade in a triumph over arch-conservative villain Don Mulford in the State Assembly. The white radicals had nothing to do with these efforts.

Also in the 1970 primary, Stew Albert ran for Sheriff of Alameda County in a one-man campaign. He claimed he would certainly win — if Sheriff Frank Madigan died election eve. It was done mostly in fun, but still it earned Albert the undying hatred of some Berkeley radicals.

Everyone, especially Stew Albert, was shocked when he gained over a third of the vote county wide, winning in Berkeley. It was clearly seen as a referendum on law and order. Since Albert had no campaign vehicle but the Tribe, many who voted for him had never even heard of him.

Until the present election, all that people had to vote for was a candidate, not a proposition like community control. Except for Loni Hancock, all left candidates have been men. In addition to the weaknesses of electoral politics in general, radicals relating to the vote have fallen prey to ego games of wishing to lead, "educate" or direct the electorate. Campaigns have been totally hierarchical, directed by the candidates on downwards, and gauged as ego-successes by the number of votes.

All of the regular arguments — about whether or not social change can be

VOTING:

If you are a registered Berkeley voter, but will not be here on April 6th, you can still vote at the City Clerk's office, 2134 Grove St. 8 a.m. to 5 p.m., every weekday. Your vote must be registered by 5 p.m. on April 5.

If you have moved, you are entitled to go back to your old polling place on election day, April 6, and vote where you were registered.

If you need help in finding your polling place, you can call the April 6th Movement at 549-0815, the City Clerk's Office at 644-6480, the Alameda County Elections Department at 444-5066, or stop by one of the Voter Information Tables put up by the April 6th Movement on the Berkeley campus. Tables are up weekdays at Sather Gate, the corner of Bancroft and Telegraph, and at the corner of Telegraph and Durant.

who sat-in inside Sproul Hall during the FSM.

The Scheer campaign — without Scheer — lived on, with a new name, the "Community for New Politics," and set itself up for the municipal elections in April 1967.

Municipal elections were seen by many as more important than congressional. Even if Scheer had won it would have only been symbolic. One person out of 435 would have represented their anti-war views in a body which had no power anyway. Locally, though, people thought that they could move towards taking power. "Don't drop out — Take over," was the CNP's glib answer to the love children of America.

The CNP was made up of local community people — older, and stylistically, if not politically, more conservative than the local student movement. Their candidates included two Ramparts staff people, Bob Avakian (now of the Revolutionary Union) for city council and Bob again with another name change. This time it rose from the ashes under the banner of "Peace and Freedom Party." A whirlwind campaign at the end of 1967 got it enough registered voters to qualify for a position on the ballot. Immediately many people switched back to the Democratic Party to vote in the "McKennedy primary" as it was called.

The Black Panther Party made a tactical alliance with the PFP and ran Huey Newton for Congress, Eldridge Cleaver for President, and Kathleen Cleaver, and Bobby Seale for lesser offices. They got on the ballot in June, but PFP, worn out by complicated State election laws geared to preventing third party threats, and taken over by bureaucrats who could best relate to spending their lives dealing with such idiocy, ran out of steam. They had no campaign in the 1968 elections. Still, Newton got over 15% of the vote against Cohelan, a good showing for a man in jail convicted of killing an Oakland cop.

The 1969 council elections were igachieved through an election — are valid this time also. But now, unlike past elections, there is more of the community-movement selecting the candidates. There is a conscious effort towards unity of movements instead of ego gratification of individuals. There is more of an overall strategy (though perhaps not the best one, and open on many fronts to criticism).

Perhaps the people of Berkeley's revolutionary community have built to the point where they can use elections, instead of having candidates and elections use them.

Repeal Evil Tax

The utility users' tax as a regressive and illegal tax we pay on PG&E and PT&T bills. These companies collect the tax for the city, free of charge to the city, but obviously the cost is passed on to consumers in rate increases. Banks and insurance companies and gov't agencies (and the University!) are exempt from this tax! And large corporations have a maximum tax of $500. According to state law, the city has no right to enact such a tax.

We can repeal this tax on April 6, Vote to Repeal the Utility Users' Tax.

SPRING ACTION TASK FORCES

April 4: Rally against racism, poverty, repression, and the war. Honor the work of Martin Luther King Jr. Hamilton Square Park (Geary and Steiner St.), 2:00 pm, San Francisco. Sponsored by the People's Coalition for Peace and Justice.

Maybe The People Will

The Berkeley Tribe strongly recommends a "yes" vote on Charter Amendment 1, the proposal for community control of the police. We also recommend the election of the April Coalition and Black Caucus candidates: Rick Brown, Ilona Hancock, D'Army Bailey and Ira Simmons to the city council.

We don't have any illusions that mere passage of the community control amendment will actually bring about community control. First, the UC Police Department, not covered in the amendment, has jurisdiction within a mile of the UC campus. Second, the Sheriff of Alameda County can, by state law, step in and take over the administration of any local police department in what he feels is an "emergency situation". Finally, the State Legislature and courts may nullify the vote.

Passage of the amendment, though, and the fight to implement it, will be a major step in a fight we and Berkeley's Black Community have been involved in for a long time: ending the occupation of our communities by a politically, socially, and economically repressive outside army.

It's been war, and it will be war. But if, in an open democratic election, the people of Berkeley attempt to implement measures in their own interest, and if the unilateral action of some "higher government authority" tries to stop this, the reason we have to fight this war will be made crystal clear to millions who still, deep inside, believe that this is a government "of the people".

And all the bullshit people have been fed by Nixon, Reagan, and their reactionary cronies about "curbing the power of big government" and restoring "local rights" will be shown for what it is: protecting the rights of racists, businessmen, and pigs.

The campaign in local communities of Berkeley has helped set up neighborhood projects where people have provided services that the present government of the pigs cannot, because it serves only the interest of people concerned about protecting their money-producing property.

If the amendment passes, the local councils and organizations, the neighborhood patrols that will be set up, the processes for dealing with "police," "security," and revolutionary justice will be a huge step in building a revolutionary society that can fight the beast from within.

Failure of the amendment by a large margin will be a green light for the Berkeley police to vamp on the community as never before, backed by what would amount to a vote of confidence, unchecked by the weight of public condemnation the amendment's passage would add.

We feel the vote will be close. We think the amendment can win, the potential is there in the numbers of people who've registered to vote in this election. The only thing that could prevent its passage is the apathy of people who might have voted for it, many because they feel elections can't work.

The Tribe supports the election of the April Coalition and Black Caucus candidates for city council, not as personalities, but as instruments of the community which is fighting for community control. If the amendment passes, we will need people in government, not so much to work for implementation—the people of Berkeley must do that—but to block official sabotage of the measure through legalisms, delay, apathy, and technicalities.

We could wish the candidates were a little more radical, in life style as well as politics. However, we are encouraged by their unflinching support of community control, and the image of themselves they've projected. Unlike most candidates in the left who were going to lead and teach us—"Vote for me and I'll set you free"—the coalition people have been very modest, very open to contact with people, and have made it clear they can only be representatives—mouthpieces—on the council, of an organized political community.

With a combination of the community control amendment and the four candidates, along with what appears to be a radical community united around this election as never before, April 6 will be the most important election in Berkeley in a long time. We reiterate that it is of utmost importance that everyone vote.

New Haven Trial

The trial of Ericka Huggins and Bobby Seale has been recessed until next week because two of the jurors are sick. Predictably, the last week has seen developments favorable to the persecution.

On Wednesday the 24th, the third week of the trial, the prosecution brought Warren Kimbro to the stand. Warren Kimbro was originally charged with the same counts as Ericka and Bobby—murder and kidnapping, and conspiracy to murder and conspiracy to kidnap. When he was in jail he was visited by his brother, a Florida pig, without the knowledge of his lawyer. Warren Kimbro claims that he was told only that there would be no opposition to an early parole in exchange for a plea. In any event, he admitted firing the first shot at Alex Rackley the night he was murdered, coped a 2nd degree murder plea, and turned state's witness in the trial of Lonnie McLucas which found Lonnie guilty of conspiracy to murder.

Kimbro's testimony graphically described the beating and torture of Rackley. In fact, he testified so readily that his answers gave far more than the prosecutor's questions demanded, and Judge Mulvey frequently had to cut him off or order his answers stricken from the record. His testimony appeared very well rehearsed.

The prosecution has a tape which they think helps corroborate Kimbro's testimony. It purports to contain the interrogation of Rackley through torture and supposedly opens with Ericka's voice saying, "Testing: 1,2,3. Testing: 1,2. The pig power structure and its mechanical tool, testing, testing, testing."

Katie Romback, Ericka's lawyer, argued intensely for several days against admitting the tape as evidence chiefly on the grounds that it was obtained illegally without a warrant in a search that persisted for more than five days. The tape was admitted as evidence.

The trial is expected to resume Monday.

BREAK AWAY

Breakaway Berkeley is a women's free school that developed as a result of the women's Breakaway in San Francisco this past year. It was considered a success in approaching education through shared leadership, "where women educate women."

Breakaway Berkeley is built upon the agreement that all women are oppressed. It's different from the free University in two ways. First, the registration is one dollar (if you've got it), and second, women participating are asked to commit themselves for the full 10 week period.

The semester began with a potluck lunch last Sunday. 15 courses were presented, all taught by women for women. Included were Gung Fu, Keeping your V.W. alive, women's diseases, Women's history, Gay Women's Liberation, Bread-making, Live model drawing, Women's theatre group, The use of space, and several others.

There are plans in motion for getting one week summer retreats together. And a childcare exchange for mothers taking classes. Women interested in any of the initial courses given or who'd like to begin others are asked to call 549-0283 or 548-7004 for more info.

BIRTH

Childbirth Education is interested in coordinating midwifery activities in the Bay Area (that's how to deliver a baby in your home). Any women who know about midwifery or who are interested in learning, call 841-0738 after April 6th.

WALL

Last week the People's Wall, at Telly and Haste, was painted over. This was done by the "Messiah's One World Crusade," who now occupy the building. All those who wish to help paint the wall again should show up this Saturday, April 3. Bring paint brushes and your imagination.

BAM!

The Movement Information Library of St. Louis reported that on Monday March 8th shortly after 11:00 p.m., the R.O.T.C. building at Washington U. - St. Louis U. was blown up. 20 minutes later a second bomb went off injuring several pigs and sending 7 of them to the hospital. Pig spokesmen agreed that the second bomb was planted with the intention of injuring police.

HERE?

Mafia Joe and the S.F. Chamber of Kommons have really gone mad. In their latest departure from reality, they have placed a bid for making San Francisco the site of the 1972 Democratic National Convention. Robert Josten, the City's Washington representative, emphasized in his presentation to the Democrats that "We could virtually assure the convention of a secure operation, because we have a well-trained police force with experience in handling crowds" (S.F. State, Nob Hill, etc). He also told them that there would be a combination of hard dollars and services which could possibly total $750,000. (Isn't S.F. too broke to pay out any more welfare?) This offer was similar to one made earlier to the Republican gang. In the meantime, we all breathlessly await the final decision, and hope for a chance to show them just how secure the Bay Area is for super-pigs. Here's hoping!!!!

Numbers! Numbers! Everybody has numbers, especially Social Security numbers. Ever notice how many times you have to give your SSno.? When you get a phone, register to vote, apply for a driver's license, register in college (at Cal next year), apply for welfare, and all kinds of shit like that. The latest to show interest in people's SS no's are the UCPD. It seems that Chief Beall and his lackeys are asking people for this information when they fill out "Stop cards." They also ask for it on the Arrest Form supplied to them by the BPD.

Don't give them this information, you are not required to. The ACLU in Berkeley is currently interested in this procedure. Give them a call if you want to keep your SS no. to yourself. 848-0921.

AROUND

CHICAGO—Linda Evans was released from Cook County Jail yesterday where she served three months for a whole series of state charges that came out of the Days of Rage. She's still got 3 years and a job probation, but it doesn't look like they put a travel restriction on her. Welcome back to a beautiful sister!

THE HAGUE—A crippled veteran threw his artificial leg from the public gallery onto the floor of Parliament. It narrowly missed the government bench. The wooden leg dramatized a debate on pensions for war victims.

STANFORD: Education via the library here is becoming more difficult. The card files, especially those centered on the military-industrial complex (currency, economics, industry), and hereditarily on Henry Cabot Lodge, have been almost totally defaced to the rhythm of $15 grand. Lodge spoke here (or tried to) in January but was "heckled." One heckler arrested was John Kelch and now, on the trashed cards, are written things like "5000 cards a day until John is rebired," John having been a cataloger at the library. Celebrate Library Week...Now!

DOGPIG

Two Berkeley people discovered this week that Rin-Tin-Tin is alive and working for the pigs at S.F. airport. 13 pounds of hash were uncovered in a suitcase by a "pot dog" and the woman who picked it up was followed to Berkeley and to her accomplice here by Customs agents. This is not the first time that the sniffing canines have busted baggage at the airport. Reports on their efficiency vary and the TRIBE would welcome any suggestions to thwart these nasal sensors. In the meantime, if you fly, have your shit together, and rip off all the blankets and pillows you can carry.

SISTERS—

Last nite, as I was crossing Parker St. on Telegraph, walking toward Oakland, a man pulled up, offered me a ride, hassled me, and tried to rape (or beat on me, whatever—) me. He had his whole shick pretty well choreographed—the didn't however, have a weapon—so I'm fairly sure that he does this kind of shit pretty often. After about five minutes, I was able to punch him in the face, and he let go of me. I flipped the door open and jumped out of the car, and he sped away... (this on Ellsworth between Woolley and 66th, around 12:30 at nite). Because I was intent on splitting, because adrenaline is an incredible high, and because I am strong enough to fight a man of his size, nothing more than a fast intense struggle came down. But this cat is really a fucked up person, and so here's what he looks like etc.

THE CAR— a '66(?) off-white VW bug, with blue-grey interior. Hard top. The cat has black straight short hair, parted on the side.

About 5'10", 140-50 lbs. Noticeably skinny, he's white, sallow complexion and oily, randomly pimply skin. Wears black rimmed glasses.

Wearing straight, plain clothing. He has a soft voice, toward high and whiny.

About 25 years old, and totally innocuous altogether.

PARK

Golden Gate Park used to be a great place to go and relax, get your head a little loose, and just dig on what a groovy park it is. Things changed with the arrival of Snooky Pig Nelder's Hoiday patrol. They introduced an element of tension and paranoia heretofore unknown in the verdant environs. People started getting busted for a variety of crimes; smoking a joint, appearing in man's natural state of being, homosexual acts of love, public intoxication, and other crimes against the state.

Lately, there has been an influx of undercover pigs patrolling the park. Beware of these agents as they have already beaten a black man bloody as they arrested him for the heinous crime of swerving in front of their undercover pickup. A couple of Tribe brothers had a near miss with some of these pigs near the Conservatory. They had a black sports car, Triumph Tr-4, License RMY 203, and a late model VW omnibus, orange with a white top. They were all straight in appearance and had walkie-talkies and guns drawn. If you come across these pigs, keep your distance; they might be hazardous to your health. If anyone has more porcine vehicle descriptions, send 'em to us and we'll get out the info to the community. In the meantime, be cool in the park and enjoy the thousands of flowers blossoming with a subtle beauty not even the Forces of Fascism can destroy. See you in the park.

BIRDS

Among the 300 birds remaining at the Richmond Bird Center there are some species vulnerable to extinction due to environmental catastrophe caused by man. Complete rehabilitation of those birds is essential in gathering the knowledge for treatment in future oil spills. There is even an International Bird Rescue Fund and Mission based in Washington DC ready to go anywhere in the world to salvage the environment, which oil companies do their best to destroy. Blocking this effort is Standard's refusal to carry the financial responsibility for the Richmond work any further. All funds were cut off on March 28.

It is not that the Richmond people were asking for too much money. The $25,000 requested (the equivalent of one minute of prime tv time) was not the reason Standard balked. Rather, as they put it, they could not deal with the lack of organization of the Richmond Bird Center. That is, they could not deal with a conglomerate of people working in a free-flow, experimental situation; they weren't greeted by a PR man.

Those "unorganized" people, however, managed to save 26 % of their birds as compared to 3% at the San Francisco Zoo. Standard's solution to the birds? Turn them over to the S.F. Zoo.

It takes $1,000 a day to care for the birds, and the people at Richmond are going ahead with the bird treatment with or without Standard. They need contributions and food for the volunteers at:

On Feb. 22, 1971 several employees of the California Book Co., Davis Store, met and decided to form a union to seek higher wages and better working conditions. We agreed that should any individual be fired, the rest of the individuals would support his rehiring. We drew up a list of grievances and asked the owner, Mr. George Rumsey, to meet with us to discuss them. We received no response. We called him and asked him again to meet with us. Each time we stressed that the demands were negotiable. Mr. Rumsey finally said that we were not one of his major concerns and went to Mexico on vacation.

Our next step was to write two articles that were published in Cal Aggie, the student newspaper at Davis. The management responded by hiring eight new people who were personal friends or acquaintances of the manager and who were known to be unsympathetic to the union.

On Monday, March 22 one of the organizers was fired, and the Cal Book Employees' Union is asking people to boycott ALL branches of the California Book Co. until an agreement is reached on the following demands and until the fired personnel are re-hired.

The Union Demands:

1. The minimum starting wage be $2.34 per hour.
2. That there be an increase in that base pay, and in all other levels, equal to any cost of living index as published by the federal government.
3. After 400 hours of work there be a raise in pay of at least 10 cents per hour, every 400 hours.
4. The manner of dress of any employee shall be determined by that employee, and that what one sex may wear in terms of clothing, hair length, etc., the other sex may do likewise.
5. That neither the total employee hours, nor the total hours per employee be reduced without consent.

We urge everyone to boycott all branches of the California Book Co. Locally they are:

Here is the first installment in a long article which originally appeared in the New York Times Magazine (they'll sell us the consciousness with which we'll hang them.) The rest of the article will appear in succeeding issues of the TRIBE.

By Sanchez de Gramont

There had been showers in the afternoon, but winds off the sea blew the clouds away and the evening was cool and pleasant for Sao Paulo in march, with the reflection of the downtown neon against the sky casting a heavy pink pallor over the city at twilight. Breezes shook the palm fronds on the square where the four men waited, some of them reading newspapers, others gazing at the sky.

The men knew that at 6 o'clock on this evening of March 5, 1970, as on other weekday evenings, a black, chauffeur driven Oldsmobile belonging to the Japanese consul would slowly turn a corner into the square, carrying the consul home from work. They had been studying the consul's route for several weeks, and it never varied. He was a man of punctual habits.

They had chosen the Japanese consul, a short, dumpy man in his 50's named Nobuo Okuchi, for three reasons. First Mr. Okuchi is an important man in Sao Paulo, which boasts a Japanese colony of several hundred thousand. Second the considerable Japanese investments in Brazilian industry are concentrated in the Sao Paulo area. Third, a Nisei named Shizuo who belonged to the same organization as the men waiting on the square, the Popular Revolutionary Vanguard (V.P.R.), had been arrested by the political police, and information had reached them that he was being tortured and would probably be executed.

At two minutes past 6, the black Oldsmobile turned slowly into the square. A Simca drove out of a side street to block its passage, and another car moved up behind it, immobilizing the consul's car. Two of the men ran to the second car, pulled a machine gun from the back seat, set it up on the square so that its field of fire covered the street from which the consul's car had emerged. The two others opened the back door of the Oldsmobile and invited Mr. Okuchi to get out. The chauffeur was nervous. His fingers tapped the steering wheel as if he found it hard to resist blowing the horn. One of the men told him: "Stay quiet. This is a political kidnapping."

"I have no intention of resisting," the consul said. "Is this like what happened to the American Ambassador?" The man nodded. Passersby strolling on the square quickly changed sidewalks when they saw the three cars in the street. The consul accompanied three of the men to the Simca and drove away with them. The other men put the machine gun back in the second car and drove off in a different direction. The operation had taken roughly five minutes.

The consul sat in the back seat of the Simca between two of the men. One of them reached in his pocket and pulled out a roll of adhesive tape to blindfold the consul. They were taking him to a house in the suburbs. Only the driver of the car knew the location of the house. The other men kept their eyes shut so that they would not know where they had been taken if ever they were arrested.

Halfway to the house in the suburbs, the Simca met head on with a police car. The police saw the muzzle of a sub-machine gun protruding from one of its back windows, and drove away. As Ladislav Dowbor, the young Brazilian revolutionary who organized the kidnapping, was to tell me later: "One of our advantages is that the police are not motivated against us. We are ready to give up our lives, but they are not."

Once inside a back room of the house in the suburbs, the consul's eyes were untaped. He was offered cigarettes. A hot meat was waiting for him on a table. Dowbor told the consul: "We are asking the Government for the release of five political prisoners in exchange for your release. We want the prisoners flown to Mexico. When they land in Mexico, you will go home."

"I was a captain in the navy during the war," the consul said. "I am used to hardship. You don't have to worry about me."

"We don't want you to think we are bandits. I am an economist. My friend here is a lawyer."

"Perhaps, but it is a terrible thing to be separated from one's family."

"Yes, but measure against that the amount of suffering that has come from torture. Under any circumstances, we consider it moral to hold you for a few days to save our friends. We feel justified in kidnapping you because there is no law in Brazil, the normal controls of government do not exist."

"This sort of thing could never happen in Japan," the consul said.

"Can you think of any other way we could solve our problems?" Dowbor asked.

The consul shrugged. It was clear that he did not agree. At the same time he felt that it was no time to be undiplomatic. "The government will evidently agree to free the prisoners," he said.

That night the consul saw his tearful wife interviewed on television, and listened to a biography of his life and consular career, illustrated with family snapshots. He asked his kidnappers to send word to his family that he was all right. His wife was notified that he would not be detained long. From the back room where he was kept, the consul could hear visitors in the front part of the house talking in excited terms about the kidnapping.

The consul had been abducted on a Thursday. Perhaps because the kidnappers' demands were modest, the Government quickly agreed to release the prisoners, including their Nisei friend and a mother superior, whose freedom the V.P.R. demanded as a symbol of all the jailed clerics in Brazil (nine Dominican fathers are still being held in Tiradente prison in Sao Paulo). On Sunday, the kidnappers received word that the five had arrived in Mexico. That night, two of the men drove the consul across town to the Paraiso residential section and stopped the car across the street from a taxi stand. The consul shook hands with his captors, jumped into a cab, and headed for home.

The kidnapping of the Japanese consul was not an isolated act, but part of a program of urban guerrilla warfare which has been adopted in the last three years by several Brazilian opposition groups. The 1964 coup against President Joao Goulart's reform minded Government apparently convinced these groups that social change in Brazil could not come about through peaceful means. Constitutional rights were suspended in 1964, and since then Brazil has been ruled by a succession of three generals. Gen. Humberto Castelo Branco died in 1967 and was replaced by Gen. Artur da Costa e Silva, who died in office and was succeeded by his former secret police chief, Gen. Emilio Garrastazu Medici, who was elected to the office of president by a majority of Brazils 230 generals.

Today, political opposition to the ruling junta can be divided between those movements that continue to believe in conventional methods, like strikes, demonstrations, pamphlets, and opposition candidates in national and local elections and those who argue that since the regime will not tolerate conventional methods of protest, armed action has become the only way.

Perhaps the first opposition leader to decide upon armed action was Carlos Marighella, the veteran militant who joined the Brazilian Communist Party at the age of 16, in 1928. The son of a black Brazilian woman and an Italian immigrant, Marighella was dubbed "the ebony giant" by the penny press. He was proud of the fact that his grandmother was a slave. He was first jailed in 1936. After World War II, the Communist Party was allowed to surface and he was elected a deputy. He was very active in the Brazilian house of representatives, and made 195 speeches in less than two years.

In 1947, however, Brazil broke off diplomatic relations with the Soviet Union, the Communists were again outlawed, and Marighella again went underground, this time for good. As Communist leader of Sao Paulo, a sprawling, mushrooming metropolitan area which today has six million inhabitants, his action then consisted largely of organizing the masses: contacts with labor leaders, speeches supporting the demands of the workers, posters and pamphlets.

Under Brazil's last constitutional government, that of Joao Goulart, who governed from September, 1961 to April, 1964, Marighella was not actively hunted by the police, for the Communist strategy at that time was to cooperate with the government and hope eventually to take power through an alliance with the middle class. But just as Goulart was about to embark on a program of reforms, including a law that would have limited to 10 per cent of invested capital the percentage of profits that foreign investors could take out of the country, and an agrarian reform that would have expropriated and redistributed about a million and a half acres (or roughly 1 per cent of the country's privately owned land), he was overthrown by an army putschbacked by a coalition of large landowners and conservative politicians.

The police began looking for Marighella in earnest and found him one April evening in a Rio de Janeiro movie theater. He resisted arrest and was shot three times in the stomach. He escaped while recovering from his wounds in a prison infirmary. It was then that Marighella began to contest the Communist party's strategy of peaceful resistance. In 1967 he broke with the party and went to Cuba in August to attend the first Conference of Latin American Solidarity. There, disavowed by the Brazilian Communists, he made his first speech calling for armed action. "The only way to unite Brazilian revolutionaries and give power to the people is through guerrilla warfare," he said.

Returning clandestinely to Brazil at the end of 1967, Marighella began to form small action groups and outline his new revolutionary program. He formulated two basic principles: first, that the political and military branches of the government should be one and the same. In this he was arguing against the so-called brazo armado (armed branch) theory according to which revolutionary action can be waged on two complementary fronts, one political and the other military. Marighella had come to believe that only through military action could political results be obtained.

operate in hard-to-reach rural areas. Their action, supported by the local peasantry, would serve as a focal point of the revolution and as an example for the formation of similar guerrilla centers throughout the country. It was while applying the foco theory to the Bolivian hinterland that Debray and Guevara were captured in October 1967. "The trouble with Che Guevara," a Brazilian revolutionary told me, "is that he was known by all the wrong people. Everybody all over the world knew him, except the Bolivian peasants."

In the pronunciamento launching his new movement, the A.L.N. (Action for National Liberation), Marighella said, "We are not interested in sending armed men to a certain spot in Brazil and in waiting for other groups to spring up in other parts of the territory. This would be a fatal error." As he began recruiting his first armed groups, he drafted a "Manual for the Urban Guerrilla," which is a practical handbook of the how-to-do-it variety, full of rather obvious precepts and advice on the order of: "The urban Guerrilla must know how to live amid the people, he must dress in such a manner as not to attract attention, he must use light weapons, which are easy to replace, he must attack the enemy by surprise, he must have a strong political motivation and a good technical preparation."

From the fall of 1968, Brazilians were witness to spectacular guerrilla military actions carried out in the heart of their largest cities. More than a hundred banks were robbed by Marighella's A.L.N. and by several smaller, independent groups that formed in his wake. An American Army captain named Charles Chandler was shot and killed as he left his Sao Paulo apartment building. The guerrillas said he was a C.I.A. agent. Marighella's men dynamited army barracks and warehouses owned by American companies, they occupied radio stations to broadcast revolutionary proclamations, they freed a group of jailed comrades from a prison in Rio. Another group, the Revolutionary Movement of Oct. 8, kidnapped U.S. Ambassador Burke Elbrick in broad daylight in downtown Rio, and exchanged him for 15 political prisoners.

The large circulation Brazilian dailies like O Globo called Marighella and his men thieves, bandits, and assassins. At the same time, they fed the legend of a Brazilian Pimpernel with a charmed life, whom the police were unable to catch. But as Marighella's group grew larger, the risk of capture increased. With the arrests of two Dominican fathers in October, 1969 (Marighella may have been a Marxist-Leninist, but he was hardly sectarian about recruitment), the police were able to dismantle the network. On Nov. 4, 80 policemen laid an ambush for Marighella on a street in Sao Paulo and killed him in a south-of-the-border version of the shooting of Bonnie and Clyde.

The organization has survived its leader and continues today to carry out armed coups in Brazil's cities. Two other groups that have modeled their action of Marighella's thinking are the M.R.-3, which kidnapped Elbrick, and the V.P.R., whose kidnapping of the Japanese consul has already been described. As Ladislav Dowbor, the 29 year old economist who became one of the leaders of the V.P.R., explained the process, the decision to deal exclusively in armed actions was not impetuous or improvised, but the result of a careful political analysis.

I met Dowbor this summer in Algiers, where he arrived in June with 39 other Brazilian political prisoners who had been released. In exchange for the kidnapped West German ambassador. The political police had arrested him only seven weeks before his release. But during that time he had been frequently tortured. His ankles were covered with dark blue bruises made by electrodes, and one third degree burn on his left leg had failed to heal after months of treatment. Despite what he has been through, he is already making arrangements to return to Brazil clandestinely and resume his activities.

POLITICAL EXECUTION PLANNED

Since 1968, when Brazilian generals took full, open control of the country with the firm backing of the CIA, and the first really large-scale student demonstrations took place, torture, murder, and terror have become routine in Brazilian prisons where tens of thousands of Brazilian people are being held captive. With the aid of a special act passed in 1968, the Fifth Institutional Act, it has become legal for the military pigs to take whatever measures they feel are necessary to "safeguard national security, economic-social order, and the popular economy" (which are being seriously threatened these days), and suspends the right of habeas corpus for political prisoners. Thus, there have been virtually no trials in the last three years, since almost all prisoners are considered political, and the pigs have been making sweeping arrests throughout the country. Prisoners are detained, interrogated, held incommunicado, and often tortured or even murdered. Many people who have been arrested are never heard from again. These arrests are totally unselective — anyone who could possibly be considered a subversive is subject to arrest: liberal politicians, lawyers, doctors, professors, students, workers, and even these people's children and families, and, of course, the guerrillas, when they can catch them.

In the last year or so, however, the international press has been publishing detailed accounts of the atrocities on the basis of interviews with prisoners who have been released as ransom for kidnapped diplomats or people who have managed to escape from the country. Many times, these people have told of machines especially designed to give electric shocks which are made in America and of American public safety advisors (people who train pigs in counter-insurgency, etc.) being present to observe torture sessions. The ruling class has been categorically denying these charges, but with the enormous outcry against the tortures and murders coming from every country in the world — including the US to a certain degree — the generals have come to realize that they have to tone down their activities a little if they intend to continue repressing the people.

So they decided to legitimize the events of the last three years by putting two political prisoners who were supposed to have murdered a security pig on trial. The verdict that came down was a death sentence for 19-year old Teodomiro Romero dos Santos, and life imprisonment for 26-year old Paulo Pontes da Silva. They are both members of the VPR (Popular Revolutionary Vanguard) which is led by Carlos Lamarca and Ladislav Dowbor, and were two of the many political prisoners who the government refused to release as ransom for the Swiss ambassador who was kidnapped late last year. Their families couldn't find a lawyer who was willing to risk defending them, so they had to use a court-appointed lawyer, who, needless to say, did absolutely nothing to help them in any way — in fact, in his summation, he said that Teodomiro was guilty, but that Paulo should not be sentenced to death because he didn't pull the trigger. This is the first time in over 100 years that there has been a death sentence in Brazil.

But it looks like this repressive act is not going unchallenged even inside Brazil. The censored press has reported this incident as thoroughly and fairly as it can get away with doing — in the brief interview they had with the two, the only comments they would make were about the horrendous tortures they had suffered and how they were still communists fighting for the liberation of their people, and will always be, no matter what the pigs subject them to. The papers reported their comments without the usual government denial of tortures following it up. The most influential lawyer in Rio de Janeiro has offered to defend them in the Supreme Court, and the right to appeal has miraculously been granted. Because of the vehement protest against the verdict, both inside Brazil and out, there is a fair chance that they'll be murdered in prison or the pigs will say they "managed to escape", and the net result will be the same.

While it's true that the government wants to clear itself in the eyes of the world, it's equally important to them to maintain their position of authority and power in the eyes of the Brazilian people. The millions of dollars they get in aid and investments from the Mother Country and other capitalist countries is far too important to them — they have to keep up the facade of "political stability". — So the future of Teodomiro and Paulo is dim, at least.

A couple of days after the verdict was announced, the military command made an official statement saying that two VPR guerrillas were killed by security pigs in a shoot-out while "resisting arrest". They said that the two guerrillas had been involved in an attempted bank robbery in which a police commissioner was killed and in the kidnapping of the German ambassador last year, and were carrying important documents of the VPR.

People should find out as much as they can about the struggle going on in Brazil — the people there are fighting repression, oppression and starvation against incredible odds, but without a show of solidarity from other people involved in the international struggle in other countries, they stand a good chance of being wiped out. It's our revolutionary duty to show them that they have sisters and brothers here in the Mother Country.

TUPS

The Tups have ripped off, for the second time, the president of Uruguay's state-owned telephone company. Ulysses Pereyra Reverbel, a friend and counselor of the president, was grabbed by a commando group as he left a dentist's office in downtown Montevideo less than 150 yards from police headquarters. Now Reverbel will be able to play cards with British Ambassador Geoffrey Jackson, whom the Tups still hold.

The Dream Is Over
What Can I Say?

The American Male Macho Drama came to an abrupt crushing halt for two men Monday. At Fort Benning, Georgia, a short, stocky, crewcut young white man was found guilty of at least 22 murders. Across the continent in Los Angeles, a short, slight, crewcut young white man was sentenced to die for seven counts of murder.

Manson and Calley; those "monsters" whose media images have titillated and shocked the populace these many months. Manson and Calley; teamed up for a double-gore orgasm all over the front page of the Tuesday morning papers.

"The juries are both coming out this afternoon!" It was a big afternoon for the mass media. The media that had known they were guilty all along. But today the big, supercilious, hyped-up climax! Juries of their peers meeting out justice! Giving those monsters their just desserts! They will, won't they?

As it turned out, neither jury voted to overturn the media conviction. Though the courtroom scenes were wildly dissimilar, BOTH CAME TO THE SAME CONCLUSION IN THE FINAL ACT.

If Manson is Amerika's orphan, Calley is it's model son. This led to the differences in their roles, the ways they were treated (Calley like an officer and gentleman, Manson like some sort of crazed animal).

But though the plays were different, they were both shaped by Amerika. And Amerika only writes tragedies.

Manson stars as an orphan, growing up in foster homes, orphanages, reform schools, and jails. A life of institutions where the competitive pace is swift and ruthless. Where only the strong — the bad dudes — survive. Where rebellion is the only possible affirmation of life.

Manson, learning toughness for survival. Learning how to manipulate / influence people. Learning the occult. Learning defiant rugged individualism — in the best American Outlaw tradition.

Calley, the model son, grows up in a university town with his family. His father a math professor. A proper upbringing in a nuclear family where the competition is subtle. Where the life drives are oh so carefully, neatly, and antispectically channeled. Where the options are almost mathematical in their sterile inevitability.

Calley, learning the skills of conformity. Learning what people expect of him. Learning servile individualism (shut up, do your job, and we'll take care of you on payday) — in the best American Kiss-Ass tradition.

For both Charlie Manson and Rusty Calley — the dream for all young men growing up in Amerika: The Big Man. Getting Ahead. Stud.

For Calley the dream leads to the U.S. Army. Not just ordinary soldiering but the voluntary rigors of Officer's Candidate School. Not just the "Kill! Kill! Kill!" of Basic Training. But studying how to LEAD men into war. To tell them, how, when, and where to kill. A dream come true.

For Manson it leads to the Haight and other hip communities. Not just dropping out but gathering followers. Not just "dope, rock 'n' roll, and fucking in the streets." But, the pigs say, achieving such control over the women that he could tell them anything — even how, when, and where to kill. A dream come true.

And so, as the play moves on, we come to the MAD SCENE. This scene is improvised. The only scene in the play where Amerika didn't/couldn't write the script.

In My Lai, Vietnam, Calley is riddled with doubts and fears. The enemy, in Calley's words: "Nobody in the military system had ever described the enemy as anything other than Communism. They didn't give it a race, sex, age. They never let me believe it was just a philosophy in a man's mind. That was my enemy out there."

This enemy he can't see, feel, or touch is killing his charges. He knows the villagers all hate the Americans being there. But which one will plant the bomb, the booby trap? Which villager will be the one to end his life? Who will deprive him of the war hero's glory he can look forward to if only he makes it back home?

They say Calley was responsible for the premeditated murder of 102 defenseless people in the village.

In Los Angeles, California, Manson is riddled with doubts and fears. The enemy: The courts, the businessmen, the bureaucrats, the police, the rich — call it Fig Amerika.

The enemy is all over the place, slowly killing off the budding culture with buses, ordinances, snafus and guns. He knows all the old people hate them for their hair, their clothes, their ways. He knows they're trying to squeeze his people off the face of the earth. They're trying to break up the scene he's worked so hard to build up. A scene where he's able to live out his fantasies, where he's finally got some prestige.

They say Manson ordered his followers to two wealthy homes where they killed seven people.

These Mad Scenes can't be totally controlled by the author. The earlier acts build up too many false hopes, too much rage and frustration. Amerika sees the anger, fears it, but can only hope to keep it isolated, to channel it.

So Amerika produces plays with overzealous actors like Manson and Calley. Through the media they're brought to the largest audience possible.

You see, Amerika knows all its manipulating audiences. Knows their most vivid remembrances will be the final act. That's the judgment scene. The penalty phase. The act where the author reasserts his ironclad grasp on the script. Where Amerika regains control over the actors and the play.

It was easy for the author to resolve the final act in the Manson tragedy. It was clear that the death of movie stars, heiresses, businessmen, playboys... could not go unpunished. This was a threat to the very foundations of Society.

Charles Manson, Leslie Van Houten, Susan Atkins, and Patricia Krenwinkel had to be guilty, had to get the maximum sentence.

The script was clear and the judicial system didn't falter. The middle-aged and elderly jurors were shocked from the start by tales of dope, free love, and other things they couldn't/wouldn't ever understand. They wasted no time in opting for the gas chamber for all four. The judge said he wished he could give them a medal and shook their hands.

Manson and the three women weren't even in court when the sentence was read. Defiant to the end, they'd been ejected after disrupting the court and promising revenge. Their only support was in their tight-knit family. And they hadn't been fooled. They knew how it was going to end right from the trial's start.

Calley also remained true to his role. He was servile to the end. When they found him guilty of murder, he saluted. Wednesday, when they sentenced him to a lifetime of hard labor, he saluted and said, "I'll do my best, sir."

The final act of the Calley tragedy was much harder to work out. Mass murder of Asians had been American policy for a number of years. (Why else was Calley's platoon sent to Vietnam?) But the doctrine of a fair fight had been included in the American mass consciousness — though the concept was clearly obsolete in "modern warfare."

So, to placate some of the more squeamish, a low-level officer was put on trial. The orders came from very high places in the Chain of Command. Somebody had to swing, and it sure as hell wasn't going to be Dick, Melvin, or a general.

The script was fairly clear but the supporting cast was grumbling about their roles. The hypocrisy of trying a lieutenant for carrying out a national policy of genocide grated on some. Probably more thought that genocide was right on, so why the fuss about some Asian bodies in a ditch?

The verdict took a long time — 13 days. But finally the six Army officers voted for their continued professional well-being — and sacrificed Calley.

The Manson tragedy drew rave reviews. If anyone is pissed about the verdict, they're being quiet about it. But a lot of people are mad about the Calley tragedy's final act. They may even force the show to close early.

Still, both plays were effective. The Silent Majority was given the Manson Family on a platter, with a long menu of other hippies to follow. The liberals were thrown a bone, so they can get back to optimistic talk about how the Nation hasn't lost its conscience. But the plays' real value lay in setting up boundary lines.

The author wants the audience to remember what happens to the Calleys and Mansons. To those who overstep the boundaries. To learn from Manson not to move against the fabric of society, no matter how rotten it is. To learn from Calley that even if you're DEFENDING this decadent system, you must remember not to overstep those often invisible boundaries.

To remember that you can be a BIG MAN in your fantasies. That you can take out your rage by treating other people like shit; by beating your wife and fighting your brothers. That you can turn the frustration inward and kill yourself with dope, despair, and alcohol. BUT YOU CAN'T FUCK WITH THE AUTHOR'S PEROGATIVES. Because he'll crush you. Sort of like Adam, Eve, and the Apple.

As spectators at these plays, we've been remarkably passive — particularly those of us on the left side of the aisle. We should quit hissing the villain and start participating in these plays.

Indian and Chicano people have acquired an old Army Communication site from the government after much legal hassle. They intend to use the land to build Deganawida Quetzalcoatl University there for Indians and Chicanos who can't afford the high costs of other universities.

On Friday, April 2, at the land site (the site can be reached from the Bay Area by taking Interstate 80 east to the Woodland turnoff, taking that to Route 31 and going west on 31 for about four or five miles — the land site is on the right side) a statement will be made at 1:00 p.m. Following this, a peace pipe will be passed, prayers said, and food will be served. Later in the evening, there will be Indian and Chicano entertainment. Dancing will go on all night. The masses of the people are invited to show up and add to the energy and spirit of the festival.

medicine in china

Last week the TRIBE ran an article, "Medicine in China," which was mainly an excerpt from a book AWAY WITH ALL PESTS, by Dr. Joshua Horn. Dr. Horn, a British surgeon, spent 15 years in China working with the people and helping to set up China's revolutionary medical system.

Dr. Horn will be in the Bay Area to speak about Medicine in China and the Cultural Revolution:

Mon. April 5, 4:00 p.m.: Stanford University, Tressider Lounge

Tues. April 6, 7:30 p.m.: Glide Memorial Church, 330 Ellis St., S.F.

Wed. April 7, 4:00 p.m.: U. of C. Medical Center, Parnassus Ave., S.F.

Thurs. April 8, 8:00 p.m.: Pauley Ballroom, U.C. Berkeley.

Dr. Horn will also be speaking to medical audiences at local hospitals and medical schools.

TOTEM WEST is one program in Berkeley designed to meet the drug addiction problem. Its experiences point to the type of programs that Berkeley should be developing but is actually phasing out in favor of "methadone maintenance."

Eighteen months ago Totem West was established with $53,000 funding from the state to be administered through Herrick Hospital. It was originally designed as a drop-in center for addicts — a place where people could come by to rap. After a year's experience, the staff decided that a day care center would be more effective. As a day-care center addicts could come by for the day, be fed, find creative and recreational outlets, and thereby avoid the hassles and boredom of being on the street looking for food, money, something to do, and the next fix.

The staff and the people the program has helped agree that it is the best solution for most addicts. It presents and alternative life-style that can grow. But Totem West was subverted by the people with only a "professional" view of addiction. $55,000 was funded — $49,000 of that disappeared into the salaries of administrators like Dr. Justine Simon who never came around Totem West. Herrick Hospital paid the rent on the house, paid the salaries, but the staff found it impossible to get money for food and arts and crafts, transportation for field trips, or other items that might help fight smack. The program was administered to fail. It was unable to reach many people.

Most people would come in, rap awhile, get hungry and be forced back on the streets to find.... The people who could be accommodated more completely expressed a conviction that Totem was essential in helping them kick.

Herrick, however, has its sights on bigger money — funding for a methadone maintenance program. But methadone should only be used with a few people — those who have a severe psychological addiction to drugs. It is inhuman to maintain anyone else on methadone (remember that "heroin maintenance" was the man's solution to morphine addiction a generation earlier). Moreover, people under 21 or with less than a two-year addiction are excluded by law from the program.

Addicting people to a new drug is not the answer to Berkeley's smack problem — even if state supply makes addicts more vulnerable to state control. Dozens of houses like Totem West, controlled by communities — offering addicts an alternative life style, free from the pressure that drove them to addiction, is the direction we must move. This is the vision of the remaining staff and addicts at Totem West. Their program expires June 30 as Herrick Hospital allows day-care to slide in favor of methadone maintenance. Berkeley needs day-care centers and residential treatment houses. Totem West needs FOOD NOW to carry them through June 31. They want to continue this type of heroin treatment. If you are interested in community control of heroin stop by at 936 Hearst St.

DEF

On the night of March 8th, the Citizen's Commission to Investigate the FBI ripped off files from the FBI office in Media, Pennsylvania.

On March 18, this righteous commission sent copies of certain of the files to various media and "persons in public life who have shown concern and courage as regards issues which are, in part, documented in the enclosed materials." Unfortunately, they made some bad choices. Senator George McGovern turned over the copies sent to him to the FBI without even looking at them. The Washington Post ran a cover story, but bowed to Government pressure not to reprint the documents. Faced with FBI and Government threats about "publishing stolen documents," and "dangers to U.S. internal security," the media in this country has knuckled under, and acquiesced to the power structure's that the documents not be made public.

Copies of these FBI files eventually made their way into the TRIBE's copy box. Though only one document—the one on a UCB woman student and the Vencromos Brigade—relates directly to FBI operations in the East Bay, the files are obviously dynamite information for sisters and brothers everywhere to study. They contain detailed information on FBI, and local and campus police surveillance; information on what sorts of groups and individuals the Feds are keeping an eye on; legal and illegal tactics they use in the gathering of information, how they recruit and use informers, etc. In short, the files provide the beginning of a desperately needed understanding of the mentality and operations of police surveillance in America.

We are reprinting four of the stolen documents in full below, and summarizing the others as best we can. Copies are being sent directly to individuals and organizations mentioned in the files.

The Tribe looks forward to the opportunity of publishing further classified pig information that will be ripped off in the future. Keep that copy coming, folks! Bay Area pig intelligence information especially welcome.

BLACK STUDENT GROUPS ON COLLEGE CAMPUSES RACIAL MATTERS

BUDED: 12/4/70

Increased campus disorders involving black students pose a definite threat to the Nation's stability and security and indicate need for increase in both quality and quantity of intelligence information on Black Student Unions (BSU) and similar groups which are targets for influence and control by violence-prone Black Panther Party (BPP) and other extremists. The distribution of the BPP newspaper on college campuses and speakers of the BPP and other Black extremist groups on campuses clearly indicate that college campuses are targets of extremists. Advance information on disorders and violence is of prime importance. We must target informants and sources to develop information regarding these groups on a continuing basis to fulfill our responsibilities and to develop such coverage where none exists.

Effective immediately, all BSUs and similar organizations organized to project the demands of black students, which are not presently under investigation, are to be subjects of discreet, preliminary inquiries, to determine the size, aims, purposes, activities, leadership, key activists, and extremist interest or influence in these groups. Open individual cases, officers and key activists in each group to determine background and if their activities warrant investigation. Submit results of preliminary inquiries in form suitable for dissemination with recommendations regarding active investigations of organization, its leaders, and key activists.

Each office submit by airtel to reach Bureau by 12/4/70, a list of BSUs and similar groups by name and school which are or will be subjects of preliminary inquiries. This program will include junior colleges and two-year colleges as well as four-year colleges. In connection with this program, there is a need for increased source coverage and we must develop network of discreet quality sources in a position to furnish required information. Bear in mind that absence of information regarding these groups in any area might be the fault of inadequate source coverage and efforts should be undertaken immediately to improve this coverage.

A prior inquiry or investigation of a group or individual is no bar to current inquiries and inquiries should not be postponed until submission of airtel due 12/4/70. Initiate inquiries immediately.

I cannot overemphasize the importance of expeditious, thorough, and discreet handling of these cases. The violence, destruction, confrontations, and disruptions on campuses make it mandatory that we utilize to its capacity our intelligence-gathering capabilities.

Above instructions supersede instructions in Bureau letter to all offices 1/31/69, same caption.

MEMORANDUM To: SAC (91-7264)
11/13/70 From: SA Thomas F. Lewis
Subject: GILROB

This memorandum concerns certain unnamed people (probably fugitives) (code GILROB) and Professor Daniel Bennett, chairman of the Philosophy Department at Swarthmore college. The Feds felt Bennett might have had some contact with the subjects, and so compiled a dossier on the professor.

Bennett's house, wife, children and car are extensively described. Local and college police, who are helping in the investigation, keep surveillance on his house where, they note, "numerous college students visit frequently." They recruited the Chief Switchboard Operator at Swarthmore College, a Mrs. Fey, to give information about Bennett, and monitor his phone calls (which is totally illegal). She told them that Bennett is sympathetic to the Black Panther Party, and is generally regarded as a radical.

The Swarthmore Police Chief is "keeping a close watch" on the Bennett's garage, which houses a printing shop where a Black Panther Party support leaflet was once printed. He has seen "hippie types" around the garage. The Postmaster and Bennett's postman were told to keep alert for "significant" mail.

This meeting was covered by SF 2231-S (reliable-protect) who stated Subject was one of numerous individuals turned down on their applications to be members of the Fourth Contingent of the Venceremos Brigade. During this meeting, there was no discussion of violence or revolution. San Francisco source personally conversed with subject and received no indication that she was anything other than the average liberal minded student that is common in the Berkeley area.

On 2-5-71, SF 3427-PFI, who is familiar with radical activities in the East Bay Area, advised Subject is completely unknown to him.

Due to lack of information and activities of Subject, San Francisco is not submitting a summary report at this time. Subject is not being recommended for inclusion on the Security Index as it is felt additional investigation is required before this evaluation can be reached.

WEATHERMAN INFORMER SURFACES IN BERKELEY

Although the TRIBE tried hard to be discreet in obtaining documents which appear here, the FBI was on to us. A black agent who we know is an FBI man (photographed at last month's raid on the secret Berkeley FBI office) was staking us out as we gathered our materials. And as we were coming out of a Berkeley building with the documents, we met head-on with one of the most clever and vicious police informers in the movement: LARRY GRATHWOHL!

Larry Grathwohl is the only known pig informer to have infiltrated the Weatherman Underground. He was responsible for the busts of fugitives Linda Evans and Dionne Donghi in April, 1970. At that time, he was exposed as a police informer in their court appearances. His cover was blown, and he temporarily dropped out of sight. Grathwohl turned up in Berkeley last summer, posing as a macho revolutionary who was misunderstood by the Movement. He tried to develop contacts here, and threatened to bomb the TRIBE office when we printed articles documenting his history as a police agent. People in Berkeley got hip to him fast, and he disappeared at the end of the summer. Since that time, movement people from Isla Vista have reported that he was trying to infiltrate there, but we had no hard facts.

We have positive identification (made by people who worked with Grathwohl when he was an overground Weatherman) that this pig agent has surfaced again in Berkeley. We don't know how he will try to operate this time around. He may have assumed a new name and a new story. However, he still looks the same as last summer: big, muscular, shoulder-length brown hair, freaky and tough. It may be that he'll run down the same game he did last year: telling people that yes, he's Larry Grathwohl, and that he's really a right-on revolutionary communist who's been fucked over by a paranoid Movement.

Sisters and brothers: THIS PIG IS EXTREMELY DANGEROUS!!! He has an impressive, together story that can almost turn you upside down, not knowing what to believe. Anyone who comes in contact with Agent Grathwohl should try to photograph him, and contact the TRIBE IMMEDIATELY.

MEMORANDUM

TO: SAC, PHILADELPHIA (157-2004)
2/4/71 SUBJECT: BLACK PANTHER PARTY RM

The following information was excerpted from data furnished on 2/1/71, by PH1209-R*. Any dissemination of this information outside the bureau must be adequately paraphrased in order to protect this highly sensitive source.

During a conversation between SANDRA (DICKERSON) and RUSSELL (SUTTON), RUSSELL mentioned there was no heat in the office and said that they had no money.

During a conversation between DELORES (MARTIN) and RUSSELL, DELORES stated her baby was due in four months.

RUSSELL reached EILEEN (WILLIAMS) and left a message for her to tell SMITTY (HENRY SMITH) to tell MONTAE (ROLANDO HEARN) to be at a staff meeting tonight.

A representative of Western Union called for Russell Sutton advising they had a money order for him to pick up.

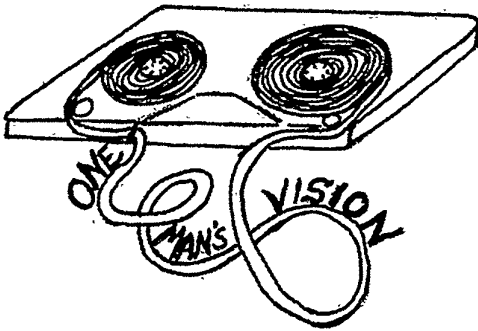

SMITTY mentioned during the day that TINA (ALLEN) had not been around the office for several days and that someone should go see her. He then mentioned BOBBY (MC GALL) currently had the responsibility for the Liberation School.

...GERALDINE called WILLIAM BROWN regarding the vehicle belonging to the BPP and was told that the car was a 1964 Chevrolet and that the engine had completely stopped running. BROWN stated that they were thinking of getting a VW bus. GERALDINE then stated she had just talked to her friend who gets cars from sheriff's sales in New Jersey, and that he expected to have something in a couple of weeks. GERALDINE stated the friend who obtains the cars name is CARTER, and it was learned that the disabled 1964 Chevrolet is parked at 36th and Haverford, but was going to be moved in front of the Party Headquarters. GERALDINE stated that CARTER would pick up the car and that if he could repair it cheaply, he would give it back to the Party so they can have two cars if they got the VW bus.

...RUSSELL SUTTON placed a collect call to Wheaton, Ill., telephone 312-665-3724. SUTTON talked to LIBBY and then MOM and advised them he was leaving Philadelphia and should be in Chicago in two weeks. SUTTON's mother then tried to convince him to get out of the Black Panther Party although she was unsuccessful.

...DANTE called HERMAN to advise the neighborhood was saturated with "pigs" and was asked by HERMAN if the "machinery" was all set up for such things. DANTE said the machinery was ready and that they had "everything going for them."

We are witness to the last days of the audio empire.

A new order is coming which will have revolutionary consequences. Broadcasting and mass distribution will be replaced by random-access networks. Programming will be by individual taste entirely, without the tyranny of trends and commercialism.

"More Jules Verne stuff," I can hear them say. Perhaps, but I've got more to go on than dreams. I speak of what I have seen and participated in as a Junior Engineer at the Special Products Division of a Redwood City electronics company.

First, let's consider the breakdown of the existing structure. What used to be harmless entertainment pabulum is becoming communication. Music is becoming poetry, and poetry has been subversive.

The hardware has been refined to the point where inexpensive devices can approach the limitations of the ear. The breakthroughs will come not in the area of hardware, but of the "software," the hookup, the use. That's where the shock-wave will hit.

SCENARIO—Ten years after the Revolution

After a few hours at the local People's Park, you get lethargic and decide to opt for a little culture in the afternoon. So you amble over to the "audio library" pavilion and check the board for new arrivals, then thumb through the catalog until you find something that suits your fancy.

Then you pull a cassette and a number for a booth. A few minutes lounging on a water-couch in the sun and your number comes up, so you go to the booth, insert the cassette in the slot and punch your codes in on the keyboard.

Whirring noises come from the slot, and in 30 seconds your cassette emerges triumphantly, now carrying your selections; news of the week (slant by Libertarian Cell 39), some fluff by Vivaldi, a lecture on African-American history by the Nation of Islam, another lecture on the same subject by a member of the Black Trots, and some topical songs by your favorite minstrel.

You clear the booth and head for the door, where you check out a cassette player with headphones. In a few minutes you are reclining under a tree overlooking Goldberg's Bonsai Garden and absorbing half an hour of your heart's content. Of course it's free—information and culture exchange is a service vital to all communities and not something to be bargained and sold.

The system you used was a remote terminal linked with the regional library by microwave. A mini-computer in the terminal handled orders from fifteen booths and sent them through the wave-guides to the central regional computer, which controlled the equipment there. Buffer tape units were directed to the proper track, time-sharing and multiplexing arrangements were made, and you and two others received your programs at a speed stepped up to 100 times the normal listening rate.

The scenario above is not fantasy. Ampex now has a cassette duplicator which operates at a 40-times speed step-up, and a random-access computer-controlled audio/video information retrieval system that operates with it. Ask them about the Pyramid system if you don't believe me.

Systems like the one described could reduce broadcasting to providing background music and weather reports, outside the active lines of intra-community communications. Replacing it would be networks of microwave and laser beams, waveguides underground, satellite links and coaxial cables.

No interference means no monopoly. Access to enter programs into the networks would no longer be restricted to a few studios, but would be decentralized to regional program banks. Anyone could submit a program and have it made available to the regional network. The number of times it is ordered up can be tabulated by the computer and can help to determine how long the program is kept available.

The concept of an audience as a passive bunch of rubes would be finished.

Communities would emerge, able to determine their own interests and to implement them.

Of course, this will not come about by simple technological progress. A political and social struggle must be waged to ensure that these sorts of systems are not perverted and misused by the greed creeps which now infest the entertainment industry.

But the equipment exists, and we're ready to hook it up. Just give the word.

ELDRI DGE &

This past week a staff writer at THE DAILY CALIFORNIAN received a tape from Eldridge Cleaver made on March 17, 1971. It was sent to THE DAILY CAL because Eldridge had received letters from the writer which were sympathetic to his position regarding the Panther split. In the tape Eldridge calls upon the white radical community to support him. He says, "We hope that white radicals will come out and take a principled and public position in this struggle because it is really necessary and to not do so would be letting their comrades down when that support is needed. To allow vicious elements like David Hilliard and Huey Newton to continue functioning, I feel, contrary to the best interests of the American Revolution as a whole."

Cleaver also announces his intentions to begin an international communications network. "We are looking forward to developing a network called the Revolutionary Peoples' Communications Network that can deal effectively with circumventing the pig media on a visual image level...."

"Here in Algeria we're in a very good position to maintain contact with all the other revolutionary movements and revolutionary governments. We plan to use these video tapes to record their struggle and to send these video tapes into Babylon, and in this way a lot of good information that the people otherwise wouldn't have access to would be made available."

"I firmly believe that information is a key aspect that has to be dealt with—truthful information could be one of the most effective checks against the development of fascism in the United States. These tapes can be very powerful weapons in the hands of a revolutionary movement."

Cleaver also mentions that the People's Republic of China has extended an invitation to the Black Panthers to send a delegation of 20 people there. Huey Newton was supposed to be gathering the people to go, but, according to Cleaver, didn't relate to it, and made no plans to take advantage of the opportunity.

Cleaver speaks of the split in the Party. He says that he is glad it is out in the open, but that it was "very sad to clash head on with Huey" after the long campaign to get him out of jail. He goes on to say, however, that "the motherfuckers at the Oakland Headquarters are stilling the life of the Black Panther Party, driving out all the revolutionary elements of the Party, and trying to turn the Party into a black version of the C.P."

Cleaver closes the tape by reiterating his request for support from the white movement. He asks that white radicals stay in touch with him and that any support or communication is "warmly welcome."

Finally, he urges that white radicals take a stand. "Don't be afraid of what those cats can do...We don't allow the pigs to drive us away from our principles, so we shouldn't allow those napes to do that."

All Power to the People.
Death to the Fascist Pigs.
Down with the Revisionists."

RCA Records and Tapes

BOBBY

Following are excerpts from the transcript of a tape made by Bobby Seale in New Haven recorded in March, 1971. The tape is courtesy of KPFA radio.

This is brother Bobby Seale from the New Haven Courthouse — the jail back here. And I just want to say to the people, the masses of people, to all the brothers and sisters, women's liberation movement, black brothers and sisters, Chicano brothers, Puerto Rican brothers, the young revolutionary white youth in America, and especially all the black brothers and sisters in the black community that I've seen a lot of things happening, and I took time to analyze what's happening and I see presently that there's some divisionary, counter-revolutionary actions going on.

Now the party accepts constructive criticism, but the divisionary, counter-revolutionary actions and jive tactics of Eldridge Cleaver is doin' nothing but adding the pig power structure in their attempt to put in gas chambers and jails over 130 political prisoners who are presently, like myself and Ericka, in these jails and being railroaded to the gas chamber. We're fighting for our lives in these trials.

There is no split in the Black Panther party at all. The main thing that we want to get across to the people is that the party is based of survival programs that serve the people — from the breakfast for children programs to more recent programs that I'm designing right here in jail. These are survival programs, all revolutionary organizations must have survival programs that can sustain the people so that the people can wage a revolutionary struggle. And Eldridge Cleaver, who is denouncing these types of programs, and carrying on with all his divisionary and other jive tactics, is negating the real meaning of a PEOPLE'S revolutionary struggle.

Even the Vietnamese people, if one were to check it out, have their survival programs. They have their co-operative, functioning survival programs throughout their land amongst their people. The people don't just have guns alone fighting in battle. And Eldridge Cleaver, who negates the very survival programs that the party is trying to set forth, to educate and serve the people and sustain the people's ability to carry forth the revolution — Eldridge Cleaver who's negating this, is in fact even negating the Vietnamese people's struggle, and the struggle of other revolutionary people throughout the world.

The party is not falling apart, it's just that Eldridge Cleaver has presently defected his own self from the party. And I, Bobby Seale am the Chairman of only one Party. And that Party is the Party that brother Huey P. Newton is the Minister of Defense of and one of the supreme top servants of the people, that brother David Hilliard is the Chief of Staff of, that brother June Hilliard is the assistant Chief of Staff of that Bobby Hutton was a member of before the pigs murdered him — I am the Chairman of only one Party that brother Fred Hampton — who loved the survival programs for the people — was Deputy Chairman of — I am the Chairman of only one Party that brothers Jonathan Jackson and George Jackson are members of, I'm Chairman of only one Party with one Central Committee with Huey and David and the rest of the brothers and sisters on the Central Committee, where the Central Headquarters happens to be located on Peralta St. in Oakland.

So all power to the people! Right on and we're gonna stick together. We ain't comin up with no jive. We have to free brothers Ruchell Magee and George Jackson, we have to free sister Angela Davis, we have to free these brothers and sisters!

ELMWOOD A LOSER

About a week ago at the Elmwood Theater on College Ave. at Ashby 2 people, a man and a woman, were busted for being stoned on smack. The couple had been in the bathroom and the assistant mgr. wanted to close up the theater. As soon as the man came out he noticed that the guy was strung out and called the pigs.

"The police are here to help, aren't they?" he said. He also felt that by busting them it "would help them and get them on the methadone program. The 2-year probation they get will probably set them straight." The assistant mgr. never showed any willingness to help or thought twice about turning them in to the pigs. "Keeping people from shooting heroin is like keeping a sniper from shooting innocent people."

The Elmwood Theater has been regressing in the quality of movies they show. Playing now is a chauvinist, sexist, oppressive movie. They have opened the theater at 1:00 in the afternoon so it can be seen during lunch hours. The prices are exorbitant and their policy stinks. A person who is familiar with their rip-off said, "I think the fucking place should be blasted."

- IF you think that the present educational system is doing all right...
- IF you think that our present leaders have a competent vision of the future...
- IF you think that radical change in education is unnecessary.

This Book Is Not For You...

- IF you enjoy insulting people and outraging them...
- IF you think that everything is so controlled that nothing can be done to change things...
- IF you think that everything must be changed before anything can.

This Book Is Definitely For You...

IF you want to consider peaceful alternatives to the problems of our educational system—not enough freedom, not enough responsibility, not enough relevance, too much bureaucracy, too much labeling, too much fear. This book is for those who want to know how to change the system without contributing to the destruction of their society or themselves.

If this is where you stand, this book will give you ideas for positive action.

NEW! JERRY RUBIN'S

The reason jail is so bad is simple: the state is forcing you to plead guilty.

Dig the procedure of going to court from Cook County Jail.

You are rudely awakened at 4:30 A.M. Your cell is clanged open and a guard orders you to get the fuck up. You get up and stand on your tier until 6-6:30 when you are marched down a hallway and packed into a small room to wait there until 8 A.M. By 8 you have been up three and a half hours and then you are marched by number down a hallway and into another room where you wait until 10.

"Going to court is so shitty, man, you want to plead guilty just to get it over with!"

Packed like wild animals.

Ordered to move.

Strip.

Spread your cheeks.

In August, 1968, a guard stuck a rubber hose up your ass to see if you were hiding anything in there, a practice since outlawed.

The screaming and talking is so loud you can hardly keep your brains together. Then boom! You are pushed under armed guard into court, part of the savage machine of justice, a band around your wrist to remind you you're a prisoner, and you got to handle procedures you never understand, fast-talking lawyers, and a judge who has absolute power over your life.

You have died a full day already before going to court, and what you have to look forward to is standing in corridors and rooms a couple more hours before getting back to the freedom of your jail cell.

It must be hideous irony when getting back from court to your jail cell represents freedom!

There were many disagreements among us as to whether or not excerpts from Jerry's book should be printed in the Tribe. Some who objected saw publishing the article as perpetuating the institution of personality cults. Some felt that the content did not justify its being printed in the Tribe.

While some of us did not particularly dig the content, we were generally eager to read it when it came into the office (one of the two copies on the West Coast!). We felt that other people might be interested in seeing it too especially since many of us had dug it.

We will review the book in a few weeks when it is publicly released.

If you want to read it - RIP IT OFF! (not from the Co-op).

A yippella is a very young yippie who thinks all meetings, offices and work is bourgeois and who rebels against the movement like they rebel against their parents.

If you happen to accidentally recognize a fugitive in a movie theater or rock festival, don't freak out. Stay calm. Quietly go up to the person and empty out all your pockets and give all your belongings to him or her, especially money, food, vitamin C, credit cards, identification, checkbook, pot, driver's license, social security card.

Give the fugitive your beads, headband, the shirt off your back and then a big hug and kiss.

Helping and hiding a fugitive is one of the best acts of a human being.

It is a sign of the power of music that it is barred from the courtroom.

Who knows the possible effect on the hearts and souls of the jurors if they had been allowed to hear Phil sing "I Ain't Marching Anymore"? What better way to explain what's going on in the streets!

A few weeks later came Arlo Guthrie. Now Arlo didn't come to Chicago.

At the last minute he sorta changed his mind.

We called Arlo to the stand to testify that as evidence of Abbie's and my good faith to put on a music festival in Lincoln Park, we had called on Arlo to come and sing.

And Arlo was to testify that he didn't come because of the bad, bad, violent vibes sent his way by the mayor of the city.

Arlo took the stand and told how he was at radio station WBAI one night and Abbie and Jerry came by and they told me about this festival planned for Chicago and I said groovy, and Abbie suggested that "Alice's Restaurant" be the theme song of the yippies in Chicago and Jerry said he's never heard the words to "Alice's Restaurant" and I said, "Now it all started two Thanksgivings ago..." and as Arlo began to tell the story all the defendants began to giggle because we knew the song was 25 minutes long!

Arlo gave a shortened version and as he began singing, "You can get anything you want..." Julie rose and shouted, "No singing in my courtroom!" and marshalls moved toward Arlo and Schultz rose to his feet shouting and we were in stitches again around the defense table and Julie shouted, "If I let you sing, the producers of your movie might sue me!" and Kunstler rushed to the podium shouting, "If that happens, Your Honor, Mr. Weinglass and I will defend you, we'll defend you!"

The suspense builds and builds and builds until you find yourself wanting along with Mick Jagger and the Stones to scream—GIMME SHELTER

"WE ARE EVERYWHERE"

The male-dominated movement was created out of American society and therefore accepted the bullshit advertising image of women in America as sex objects who cook, fuck and keep their man happy.

For us this was a monumental contradiction because we believed in the liberation of black people, Vietnamese — but not women!

How many men in the movement have we met who have forced their wives to become submissive? Che's picture hangs on the wall, VICTORY FOR THE VIET CONG posters abound everywhere, but there is the "chick" forced to do all the cooking and cleaning and the men doing all the talking and the man defining reality and the woman feeling she has to look pretty. Movement men talked about women as pieces of ass just as bad as jocks do (well, almost).

Movement men objectify women.

And in movement organizations there were all the women in one room doing the typing and there were all the men in the other room sitting around the table like some fancy board of directors making all the decisions. No movement could survive based on such a contradiction. No movement can survive which suppresses the energy and potential of its people.

Sabotage and bombing are respectable revolutionary acts, but we must be sure who suggests them. We should never, never get involved with any illegal act — or discussions or suggestions of such — with any but our closest friends.

Now I assume that anyone I just meet who suggests we blow up City Hall or kill a cop is a cop.

If you're into bombing why not wear a straight disguise and do a straight trip in your other life?

Never discuss your "victories" with anyone. Most bombers get caught because of their own macho and ego. I suspect that anyone who talks to me about blowing up buildings or killing pigs is a fool — and a liar.

Those who do, never talk about it.

Those who talk about it, don't do it.

A bomber must have a particular personality. She cannot get ego points for her act. He must be incredibly self-motivated. She is the strongest force in our movement, beyond ego. He will be impossible to infiltrate.

Sometimes you have to choose between open revolutionary activity and underground activity. Different styles are required, although the overground serves and protects the underground. The bomber lives by her example. Those involved in the most violent acts can least afford macho. Braggings is counter-revolutionary.

Repression used to be fun. It ain't any more. Too many friends and lovers have been sentenced to prison for too many years. Too many friends and lovers have been driven into exile. Too many are underground.

In the past 48 months almost all of my close friends have been taken away by the state. Repression has become a personal thing, attacking our lives. For me the revolution now means freeing Pun, John, Sharon, Robin, Bobby, Sam and bringing Bernadine, Jeff, Bill and Jane — to name just a few — back into our living rooms.

We no longer have a choice whether or not to be a revolutionary and enemy of the state. The revolution means our friends, and we want our friends alive and free.

The revolution has become personal — and serious for young whites. Revolution means death or life. Revolution is also having a great time being alive — a constant up trip.

If that sounds confused, it's because I can't decide whether we are victims fighting fascism or aggressors against Imperialism. I still don't know whether we were victims or aggressors in the courtroom in Chicago. I guess, both. Revolution is self-defense and revolution is joyous attack.

CHICANO DEFENSE

Alcorcha Case

Two brothers, Rory and Ricardo Alcorcha, are facing 15 years to life resulting from an incident of police harassment last September. Presently, Ricardo is free on bond while Rory is in the Santa Rita Concentration Camp.

On September 10, 1970, Rory and Ricardo were put through a whole lot of shit. A warrant had been out on Michael, a 3rd brother for disturbing the peace. It should be noted that none of the brothers look alike. The pigs blocked their car, threatened to shoot them, and generally gave them a hard time, taking advantage of their "power" positions.

To Police Chief Lindgren and Officers

Foster, Guzman and Leon, they hereby challenge to take a lie detector test - the findings of which are inadmissible in the state's courts. Both Rory and Ricardo are demanding lie detector tests.

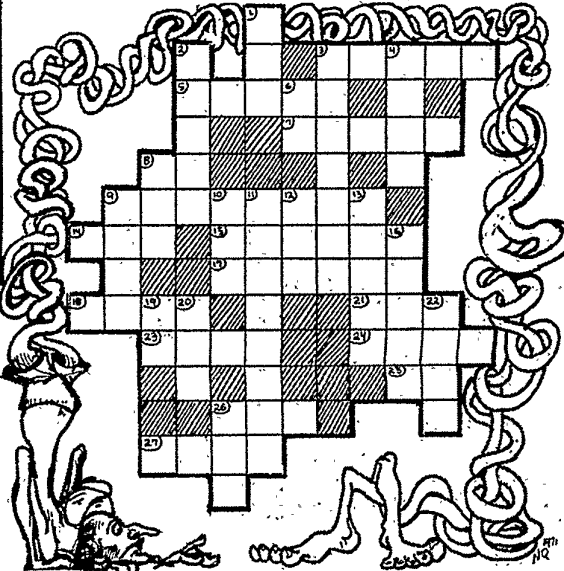

The Los Hermanos Alcorcha Defense Committee has been set up to help the brothers pay for their trial. Also, on Monday, April 5 at 9:00 A.M. they are asking people to show up at Department 9 (Judge George Phillips) Alameda Co. Superior Court and give support.

RADIO KPFA INTERVIEW WITH LOUISE ALIMO-11:30AM

Last Thursday night, pigs raided the new Baronet theater during a showing of the movie "Gimme Shelter." At least two people were busted for smoking dope. Though both the theater management and the pigs say that they don't know anything about it, it might be wise to get your shit together before you get to the theater.

"Hello, Standard Oil?...Listen, you bums....."

An interesting piece of information has come our way via the Standard Oil bulletin boards. It reads, in part:

"Refinery extension 2070...has been designated for environmental problems. This telephone will be manned 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, for the use of anyone at the refinery who becomes aware of an environmental problem. Telephone Operators will transfer complaint calls from outside the Refinery to 2070...."

The refinery's main number is 232-1514.

Do you have anything on your mind you'd like to say to Standard Oil?

Policies of Paranoia 30

Without in any way condoning the theft of documents from an office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, one is tempted to ask: who watches the watchman? Little confidence is inspired by the security measures of a security agency whose files can be so easily burglarized.

More disquieting than the bureau's internal security is the evidence, provided via the stolen files, of F.B.I. incursions into political surveillance which far exceed legitimate efforts to protect the national interest. One need not minimize the seriousness of certain violent and lawless episodes in the recent history of student unrest to be disturbed by the F.B.I.'s measures of campus infiltration, especially its apparent stress on surveillance of black students and their organizations. Such procedures assume undertones of latent racial prejudice. With rare exceptions, the protests by Negro students have been concerned with their personal place in the academic community rather than with the revolutionary excesses of the white (or black) radical fringe.

The Justice Department replies that the main thrust of F.B.I. activities has been distorted by the disclosure of only fourteen documents out of a total of 800 taken from the files. This argument offers small comfort to those whose right to privacy is improperly invaded. But even more dangerous are the consequences—clearly intended—that flow from the widespread use of informers. These tactics, said an F.B.I. newsletter, “will enhance the paranoia” among left-wing dissenters and “get the point across there is an F.B.I. agent behind every mailbox.”

The dictionary definition of paranoia is “a mental disorder marked by delusions or irrational suspicions.” It is difficult to be paranoid over police surveillance which, far from being a delusion, is carried out with such plainly stated intent.

Assistant Attorney General William H. Rehnquist recently denied that political surveillance as currently practiced has a “chilling effect” on free expression of dissent. Apparently the F.B.I., the Justice Department's investigatory arm, disagrees. Could anything be more chilling than the knowledge that the Federal Government allows law enforcement to be perverted into a deliberate process of spreading fear and suspicion, on the campuses or anywhere else in a society that wants to remain free?

Reference my memorandum 4/6/71 which forwarded for approval a letter and enclosure to Attorney General concerning several items stolen in Media burglary and publicized in "The Washington Post," 4/6/71. Memorandum advised separate damage assessments would be prepared.

Attached for inclusion in running damage assessment brief (pages numbered 177-186) are individual write-ups on seven documents relating to work of Domestic Intelligence Division which were among a group of ten items received by the press on 4/5/71 on which 4/6/71 "Post" article was based. Prior to exposure in the press, seven items not known to have been stolen, two were previously identified as stolen and damage assessments submitted and one involves criminal investigation handled by General Investigative Division.

Racial Matters

Three memoranda from SAC Philadelphia to Special Agents of Philadelphia Division (all dated 1968) set out instructions regarding development of racial informants. They contained instructions as to administrative handling of informants, examples of assignments to be given to them, likely individuals to be assessed for informant potential, and specific locations in Philadelphia area where extremists gather. Individual extremists were identified by name. No informants are mentioned by name or symbol number. (u)

Four of seven items relate to work in this field. [Symbol informant, [redacted] although not identified by name, appears compromised due to specific information he furnished. Another item (memorandum from SAC, Philadelphia to "Designated Employees," dated 9/16/70) notes that, pursuant to instructions of Inspection Staff, a "New Left" supervisory desk was created. Memo spells out type of cases to be handled by new desk as differentiated from another supervisory desk designated "Old Left." Third item is Philadelphia Division routing slip to which was attached a news article. Routing slip advised that news article be furnished to "educators" and may be mailed anonymously to educators who have shown reluctance to take decisive action against New Left. Fourth item was second page of three-page informal Philadelphia memorandum, first page of which captioned "New Left Notes-Philadelphia" dated 9/16/70. Item refers to control of informants and specifically cautions that informants should not engage in illegal acts. First page of this item previously publicized soon after burglary and has been subject of previous review (Assistant Director Dalbey to Mr. Tolson memorandum, 3/26/71, captioned "MEDBURG"). Pursuant to Director's instructions, he was furnished copy of routing slip and item relating to control of informants by my memorandum 4/6/71, captioned "MEDBURG." ~~SECRET~~ u

Damage Assessment

Damage in the racial field believed serious since documents, although prepared in 1968, present fairly comprehensive picture of our efforts to develop racial informants. Taken together with contents of other compromised documents, they can be expected to discourage the confidence of our informants and increase the difficulty in developing new informants. In the past, we have always been able to assure our sources their identities will be maintained in strict confidence; however, public exposure of the contents of stolen documents will undoubtedly cause serious doubts as to our slips, and blank copies of FBI form or forms. In this regard, it is noted that a copy of form FD-302 has surfaced containing comments typed thereon by unsubs. U

PHYSICAL EVIDENCE LOCATED AT RA

Numerous latent prints were secured and submitted to the Identification Division. All but two partial palm prints subsequently eliminated. U

Laboratory examination concerning tool marks disclosed impressions similar to a screwdriver or pry mark on hasp and lock casing to one of the rooms of the RA; however, markings insufficient for identification. Marks on a lock to the main door were caused by a wrench, vice-grip pliers or similar tool and comparison with a suspect tool when located is possible. The wire to the RA radio was cut by pliers or similar tool, however, identification not possible. No tool marks were found on cabinets and although desks appeared to have been opened by prying, no identifiable marks located. U

No pick marks were located on several locks; however, two locks bore pick marks. One local locksmith who examined one of the locks to the door which apparently had been used for entry determined that three of five tumblers had been tripped and it was his opinion this had been done by someone with a knowledge of lockpicking techniques. U

CONTACTS BY UNSUBS FOLLOWING BURGLARY

The unsubs appeared to be directly responsible for at least 20 mailings since the burglary; 13 of these being post-marked at Philadelphia, Pa., 2 at Princeton, N. J., 2 at Harrisburg, Pa., and 1 at New York City, N. Y. Several mailings could not be traced to origin either because envelope had been discarded or recipient would not make such information available. These mailings have included members of the news media, Senator GEORGE MC GOVERN, individuals affiliated with groups mentioned in documents, sympathizers, and individuals believed by the unsubs to be sources or informants from extraction of data contained in documents. U

Two deliveries of material believed originating with unsubs were apparently made in person, both to Congressman PARREN MITCHELL, Baltimore, Md., since one envelope was found outside his office in Baltimore on 3/19/71 and another was found outside the door to his residence on 3/21/71 after he was contacted by telephone a few hours earlier by an unknown female who inquired if he would be home. U

In addition to Congressman MITCHELL, three individuals associated with the news media have apparently received phone calls from the unsubs on 3/9 and 26/71. These conversations concerned inquiries regarding burglary and statement as to action which would be taken by the unsubs regarding news release and contacts with "undercover agents" of the FBI. U

EXAMINATIONS OF COPIES OF FBI DOCUMENTS AND NEWS RELEASES BY UNSUBS SURFACED FOLLOWING BURGLARY

Examinations by the FBI Laboratory and Xerox Corporation have determined that one item which has appeared numerous times may have been typed on an IBM Selectric typewriter. One envelope containing news release from unsubs was determined to contain type closely resembling Ransmeyer style used frequently in Europe. U

The Xerox Corporation has advised that the majority of the copies of FBI documents and news letters believed originating with unsubs were copies produced on a Xerox Model 660 desk-type machine. They concluded the paper used may have been produced by Hammermill Paper Company, Erie, Pa., with plants in Lock Haven, Pa., and Oswego, N. Y., which company furnishes paper for Xerox Corporation and other companies. Xerox Corporation analysis of toner used in three copies of FBI documents disclosed toner to be Xerox 1190 used exclusively in Xerox 660 machines. U

Sufficient significant characteristics and markings were located by Xerox Corporation on copies to enable them to identify Xerox 660 machine used by unsubs provided it is not significantly altered before it is located. U

SUSPECTS

Modus Operandi utilized by unsubs strongly indicates sophisticated planning by at least several individuals. Text of news releases by unsubs and circularization of copies of FBI documents as well as methods used for reproduction again suggest excellent planning and organization by a closely knit group of at least several individuals. u

The primary suspects to date include [redacted]

b7C

Numerous other individuals associated with the above and many who were involved with EASTCON or other militants and New Left activists with histories of violent opposition to the draft, Vietnam, and with involvements of break-ins of Selective Service draft boards are continuing to receive active investigation. 4

The above information should be brought to the attention of appropriate personnel and any information received regarding this investigation should be immediately furnished to the Bureau and Philadelphia. Information developed deemed to be significant should be furnished the Bureau and Philadelphia by telephone followed by teletype. 4

The referenced teletypes pertained to a demonstration by the Tribe of Ezekiel, a recently formed group which is controlled by sympathizers of Father Philip Berrigan and others who have been indicted for conspiracy to kidnap a Government official and destroy Government property. While demonstrating at the Department of Justice on April 9, 1971, the group distributed copies of the attached document which was among those stolen from our Resident Agency Office at Media, Pennsylvania, on March 8, 1971. A copy of this document has been previously furnished to you. y

The National Association of Black Students (NABS), the subject matter of the enclosed document, was formed in August, 1969, to provide a communications network for black college students in this country. We are conducting a discreet inquiry into the activities of NABS, through our established sources only, in view of its support of antidraft and anti-Vietnam War demonstrations and its distribution of inflammatory literature. The purpose of our inquiry is to determine if there is any extremist influence in this group. u

The following summarizes current investigation into the March 8, 1971, burglary of the Media, Pennsylvania, Resident Agency. A group calling itself the Citizens Commission to Investigate the FBI has claimed responsibility for this burglary which resulted in the theft of FBI documents.

COMMUNIST PARTY INTEREST IN-STOLEN FBI DOCUMENTS: Information has been developed by both our New York and Philadelphia Offices to the effect that [redacted] had been in contact with [redacted] CP functionary in Philadelphia on [redacted] at which time discussion was had as to whether [redacted] could get copies of stolen FBI documents allegedly in possession of Muhammad Kenyatta, Philadelphia Head of Black Economic Development Conference (BEDC). Kenyatta on 2/24/71 acknowledged to the press that he had received copies of some of the stolen documents and made specific reference to an interview form and a memorandum dealing with investigation concerning bank records of the BEDC. According to [redacted] [redacted] was instructed to have someone pick up the documents immediately and hand carry them, not mail them, to New York. It was indicated that the CP had no direct involvement in the burglary. Internal Security Division has been advised.

ALLEGATION CONCERNING INVOLVEMENT OF SWARTHMORE COLLEGE STUDENTS: A potential security informant in San Francisco was informed in a chance meeting with a former source on 3/27/71 in Philadelphia, Pa., [redacted] and [redacted] allegedly Swarthmore College students along with one [redacted] had been involved in the "rip-off" of the FBI Office in Media, Pa. All three according to the source had been active in CORE, SNCC and American Friends Service Committee in Philadelphia. Investigation is being conducted to

CLAIMS BY BOSTON ANTI-ESTABLISHMENT WEEKLY "THE PHOENIX": The 3/30/71 edition of "The Phoenix", a Boston weekly dealing with politics, arts, and anti-establishment scene in the Boston area printed reproductions of two of the stolen documents. One was an airtel to Albany with copies to all field divisions entitled, "Black Student Groups on College Campuses" and the other a reproduction of a memorandum entitled "New Left Notes - Philadelphia," September 16, 1970. Memoranda have been submitted on each. Both of these documents were among those previously received by the news media, McGovern and Mitchell. The article acknowledges the stolen origin of these documents claiming the documents were received from a secondary distribution organization, "Resist" a national anti-war resistance group in Cambridge, Massachusetts. The above has been furnished to the Internal Security Division. u

We had previous information that "Resist" had copies of these documents, however, attempts made to interview those individuals in "Resist" office were met with refusal to furnish any information whatsoever or to identify themselves. u

FURTHER INFORMATION RE INVESTIGATION PRINCETON, NEW JERSEY AREA:

In connection with our intensified efforts in the Princeton, New Jersey, area where many of the packets of stolen documents were mailed, [redacted] indicated to [redacted] that persons who broke into the FBI Office in Media, Pennsylvania, were members of a group called Citizens Commission to Investigate the FBI. [redacted] claimed he did not know whether this group would choose to surface and admit their act. [redacted] could not be persuaded to enlarge upon this statement. This phase of investigation being intensified. Full background being obtained concerning [redacted].

ACTION: None. For information. ✓

It was determined that the typewriter impressions on Q99 were not prepared with the questioned typewriters that prepared Q1 and Qc2, previously submitted.

Q96 through Q99 contain no watermarks or indented writing of value. Q99 contains one ten-cent and one twenty-cent U. S. postage stamps, both from a Friden Meter #709881, at Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Photographs of the mimeograph, Q96, as well as the other specimens, have been made. The submitted evidence will be returned separately.

MEMORANDUM FOR ASSISTANT ATTORNEY GENERAL
ROBERT C. MARDIAN

I am in receipt of your memorandum of March 25, 1971, in which you criticize the liaison between the Department and the FBI. I have taken appropriate administrative action in the cases of those members of this Bureau who were responsible for the failure to promptly report the burglary of our office at Media to the Attorney General. U

However, in your memorandum of March 25th you make the statement that my memorandum of March 18th, which was addressed to your Division, was not received in your Division until March 24th. I have had an intensive check made upon this particular matter and find that the memorandum from me to the Department on March 18th was actually delivered to the Department on March 18th. Therefore, whatever delay occurred in this memorandum reaching you was a delay within the Department and not within the FBI. U

Very truly yours,

John Edgar Hoover

Reference is made to your memorandum of March 23, 1971, requesting documents stolen from our Media Resident Agency on March 8, 1971.

Reference is also made to my memorandum of March 18, 1971, to Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division, copy to Assistant Attorney General, Criminal Division, and my memorandum of March 10, 1971, to Assistant Attorney General, Office of Legal Counsel, copies to Assistant Attorneys General in the Criminal and Civil Divisions, which furnished background information concerning the Media burglary.

For your information burglary was discovered during the morning hours of March 8, 1971. Forcible entry was made into the Media Resident Agency which is located on the second floor of the County Building, Front and South Avenues, Media, Pennsylvania. Entry was gained by jimmying one of two permanently locked doors and moving two cabinets located immediately inside this door. All Agents' desks and locked file cabinets were pried open. All serials and notes in these cabinets were missing.

It is estimated material taken consisted of investigative data pertaining to criminal, applicant, and security type investigations, as well as certain instructional and training documents. There was no indication that any attempt was made to force open a locked combination safe containing firearms, manuals, handbooks, and other FBI material.

ENCLOSURE

NOTE: See memo Rosen to Sullivan 5/24/71 same caption RIS:mfd. A separate memo is being prepared itemizing the documents which have been forwarded the Attorney General.

The Attorney General

Following the disclosure of this burglary, an intensive investigation was initiated in order to identify the subjects. In addition, our Philadelphia Office was instructed to ascertain exactly what material had been stolen and copies of all such items are to be furnished FBI Headquarters.

Our investigation suggested that individuals connected with the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives may have been involved in this burglary. On March 10, 1971, [redacted] was contacted by a representative of this Bureau, furnished details concerning the Media burglary, and was advised that certain individuals associated with the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives including [redacted] an unindicted co-conspirator, may have been involved in the burglary. [redacted] stated he did not want [redacted] interviewed by the FBI at this time. The conversation with [redacted] was confirmed by memorandum dated March 13, 1971, to the Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division, with a copy sent to the Criminal Division. This letter also indicated that no active investigation would be conducted concerning the burglary of the Media Resident Agency relative to defendants or unindicted co-conspirators in the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives matter without first clearing such with the Department. 4

Recognizing the impact the disclosure of some of the material in the stolen serials could have on FBI operations, a conference was held with Deputy Assistant Attorney General [redacted] Office of Legal Counsel, on March 13, 1971. After furnishing the details of the burglary and a run-down of the items stolen, [redacted] was asked whether a court order could be obtained to prohibit public disclosure of the documents stolen. [redacted] stated that there was little precedent for such an order, however, the possibility existed such an order might be obtained. He suggested this be discussed with the Civil Division or the division having jurisdiction over the case. The conversation with [redacted] was confirmed in writing by memorandum dated March 10, 1971, to the Assistant Attorney General, Office of Legal Counsel, with copies directed to Assistant Attorneys General, Criminal and Civil Divisions. The Criminal Division in this letter was requested to advise this Bureau as soon as possible as to the feasibility of obtaining a court order since the possibility existed there may be a public disclosure of stolen FBI material in the very near future. 4

The Attorney General

On March 23, 1971, [redacted] contacted a representative of the FBI Legal Counsel's Office and indicated that he was referring to the FBI's position on the FBI request concerning the possibility of getting a restraining order prohibiting the disclosure of any information from documents during the hearing there. 4

b7C

In compliance with the request set forth in your March 23, 1971, memorandum, seven copies of 17 other FBI articles which were furnished to Congressman Warren E. Hearnes and Senator George McGovern were delivered to Mr. [redacted]. In addition, Mr. [redacted] was furnished 30 other articles which are known to have been taken during the hearing. As additional articles are identified as being stolen, copies will be furnished to you immediately. 4

The following chronology of events are set forth concerning the burglary of the Media Research Agency on 3/8/71: U

Initial details concerning this burglary were received at the Bureau during afternoon of 3/9/71 by teletype from Philadelphia Office. SAC, Philadelphia has afforded on-scene supervision of cases utilizing special agent since inception. Criminal records of burglary being handled by special agent in Criminal Section. On 3/9/71 following notification of burglary Philadelphia Office was instructed to compile and furnish Bureau summary of items missing. U

To determine items missing is a painstaking and time consuming operation since this has to be accomplished through review of charge out slips in Philadelphia Office files, reconstruction of notes and rough drafts from Agents' memoranda, identification and submission of copies from Bureau and auxiliary office files. On 3/11/71 Philadelphia Office submitted initial copies of serials known to be missing to the Bureau. Serials were frame by frame reviewed and analyzed by each Division having supervisory responsibility over subject matter involved. By Friday, 3/12/71, these reviews were completed and memoranda submitted by Domestic Intelligence, General Investigative, Administrative and Special Investigative Divisions. Subsequent to that date additional missing serials have been received at the Bureau and these too have been reviewed and memoranda analyzing their contents have been submitted by the substantive divisions involved.

Recognizing the impact material in these serials could have on FBI operations, a memorandum was prepared on Monday, 3/15/71, requesting approval for a representative of FBI Legal Counsel's Office to be

Letter to Sullivan Memorandum
RE: PHOTOCOPY

In reference to the above, it is pointed out the Philadelphia Office was not able to immediately construct a detailed list of all of the material which had been stolen. To do so necessitated a check with auxiliary offices, Bureau files and other references which might be available to the Philadelphia Office. As a matter of fact, of the 17 items delivered to Congressman Mitchell and Senator McGovern only six had previously been identified by the Philadelphia Office as having been stolen. Philadelphia has been requested to explain why these missing serials were not detected earlier. u

The Attorney General by memorandum on 2/23/71 indicated he would appreciate being advised with all possible speed with respect to the nature and content of the documents which have been identified to date as missing. In this connection Mr. Lardian, in conference with Mr. Sullivan, asked to be furnished with such data. Following Mr. Lardian's request, Xerox copies of all serials sent to Congressman Mitchell and Xerox copies of 103 serials stolen from Media Resident Agency were hand delivered to him last night.

ACTION: Attached for approval is a letter to the Attorney General with copies to Deputy Attorney General, Assistant Attorneys General Criminal, Civil, Internal Security Divisions and the Office of Legal Counsel. Letter specifically refers to previous contacts with Departmental officials wherein serials concerning Media burglary were furnished. Reference also is made to fact that Xerox copies of certain serials were hand delivered to Lardian on 2/23/71. Remaining copies of stolen serials being forwarded to the Attorney General. u

As additional material is identified as stolen and copies received at the Bureau, the substantive desk handling the violation involved will prepare a memorandum analyzing the nature of the data. The responsible division will likewise prepare a memorandum to the Attorney General furnishing Xerox copies of the stolen material. u reconvened by a representative of the General Investigative Division to discuss the legal aspects with Department concerning a court order to prohibit public disclosure of the FBI documents taken. Approval for this action was obtained on 3/16/71. Because Assistant Director Dalbey appeared before the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on both the morning and afternoon of 3/17/71, the conference with Deputy Assistant Attorney General [redacted] Office of Legal Counsel, was held on the morning of 3/18/71. [redacted] indicated there was little precedent for an order prohibiting disclosure of this information, however, a possibility existed such an order might be obtained. He suggested this matter be discussed with the Civil Division or the division having jurisdiction over the case. The conversation with [redacted] was confirmed in writing on 3/19/71 by letter to the Assistant Attorney General, Office of Legal Counsel, with copies to Assistant Attorneys General, Criminal and Civil Divisions. The Criminal Division was requested to advise as soon as possible as to the feasibility of initiating such action since the possibility existed there may be a public disclosure of stolen FBI material in the very near future. 4

Prior to this conference with [redacted] we contacted [redacted] Department attorney who is handling the Barrigan case, on 3/16/71. [redacted] was furnished the details concerning the Media burglary and was advised that certain individuals associated with the East Coast Conspiracy to Save Lives (EASTCON) may be involved in this burglary. One such individual was [redacted] indicted co-conspirator in the EASTCON case, who had publicly announced that he had received a news release concerning the burglary from the Citizens Commission to Investigate the FBI. [redacted] stated he did not want [redacted] interviewed by the FBI at this time. Our conversation with [redacted] was confirmed by [redacted] memorandum dated 3/18/71 to the Assistant Attorney General, Internal Security Division, copy to Criminal Division. This letter indicated no active investigation would be conducted concerning the burglary of the Media Resident Agency relative to defendants or unindicted co-conspirators in the EASTCON case without first clearing this with the Department. 4

On 3/23/71 [redacted] contacted a representative of the FBI Legal Counsel's Office and indicated that he was referring to the Civil Division the FBI request concerning the possibility of getting a restraining order prohibiting the disclosure of any information taken from documents during the Media theft. 4

Result of examination:

The typewriter impressions on the FD-302 forms of Q123 and Q129, the envelopes, Q122 and Q128, most closely resemble the Laboratory standards for IBM Selectric Scribe style of type. This same style of type was also found on Q112, used to prepare the heading "Packet #2: Documents 15-24." This style of type was not used on the remaining questioned documents. The typewriter impressions on Q124 through Q127 are Royal Elite Merit style of type. This same style of type was also used in the preparation of Q100 through Q111. It was determined that the copies, Q123, Q129 and Q130, were prepared on the Xerox Model 660, which was also used to prepare several specimens previously submitted in this case. No characteristic markings were noted on the remaining copies submitted which were found on the copies of the Xerox Model 660.

The envelopes, Q124 and Q126, are United States Post Office envelopes. No watermarks were noted on the remaining submitted evidence. No indented writing of value was noted on Q122 through Q130. The stamps on Q122 and Q128 are from a roll or rolls of stamps.

The submitted evidence will be returned separately. Photographs have been made.

Result of examination:

The typewriter impressions on the FD-302 of Q122, the envelopes, Q123, and Q128, most closely resemble the Laboratory standards for IBM Selectric Scribe style of type. This same style of type was also found on Q112, used to prepare the heading "Packet #2: Documents 15-24." This style of type was not used on the remaining questioned documents. The typewriter impressions on Q124 through Q127 and Q129 are Royal Elite Merit style of type. This same style of type was also used in the preparation of Q100 through Q111. It was determined that the copies, Q123, Q129 and Q130 were prepared on the Xerox Model 660 which was also used to prepare several specimens previously submitted in this case. No characteristic markings were noted on the remaining copies submitted which were found on the copies of the Xerox Model 660.

The envelopes, Q124 and Q126, are United States Post Office envelopes. No watermarks were noted on the remaining submitted evidence. No indented writing of value was noted on Q122 through Q130. The stamps on Q122 and Q128 are from a roll or rolls of stamps.

The submitted evidence will be returned separately. Photographs have been made.
